Democrats Did Not Change the Date for the Convention.

Two Hundred Representatives of the Party Organizations Meet.

STRONG SENTIMENT AGAINST THE CONDUCT OF THE ADMINISTRATION.

Committee Appointed to Formulate a Plan of Action—Dr. Lutz Makes a Suggestion in Regard to Solidifying the State Organization — Zevely's Resolution—The Day's Proceedings.

About 200 representatives of Democratic campaign organizations of the State coming from about sixty counties, responded to the call by the State Democratic Committee for a conference at Entertainment Hall this morning. The call was based upon the committee's expressed opinion that a special effort to harmonize the divided factions of the party in the State was necessary to success. The State Committee was represented as follows:

First District, Col. J. H. Carroll; Second District, E. Harber, proxy for Robt. Dozier; Third District, J. B. Thomas; Fifth District, W. B. Teasdale; Sixth District, Harvey W. Salmon; Seventh District, T. J. Delaney; Ninth District, S. B. Cook, Secretary; Tenth District, Fred Zeibig; Eleventh District, E. A. Noonan; Twelfth District, C. C. Maffitt, Chairman; Thirteenth District, Henry Rozier; Fourteenth District, Henry Rozier; Fifteenth District, Thos. Connor.

Jenkins of the Fourth District was absent without a proxy, and F. A. Hunter of the Eighth District is dead.

Before the conference came to order there was apparent among the country delegates a feeling of disapproval of the date of the convention, and while none actually declared for a change, it was shown that they expected many concessions on the strength of it. There was also manifest a decided sentiment against the slightest formal indorsement of the Cleveland administration and many predicted that if such an indorsement were proposed the convention would most forcibly express its disapproval.

The State Committee held a preliminary meeting at the Laclede Hotel and heard opinions on the subject of changing the date of the State convention, called for May 15, but the sentiment in that direction was not largely represented before the committee and the date was not changed.

CALLED TO ORDER.

The conference was called to order a little after 11 o'clock by Chairman Maffitt.

Mr. Maffitt opened his brief address with the statement that the Democratic State Committee had called together the chairman of the subordinate committees of the State to confer concerning the condition of the party in different localities, adopt rules for party government, solidify and perfect party organization and promote harmony in the Democratic party. The State Committee did not question the right of the local committees to fix the time and place of county conventions and otherwise control their own affairs, but there were questions arising for the adjustment of which no definite rule existed, and precedent could be more easily established now when no personal issue was involved.

The speaker said there was need for more effectual organization of the party in Missouri. The Republicans professed to believe there was discord in the Democratic household. He advised that plans should be perfected for the taking of a poll of the entire State by school districts in order that the committee might be advised as to the disaffection if any existed, etc., extent and its causes, and might take proper steps to eradicate it before it was too late.

WANTED REPUBLICANS OUT.

Only half of the State Committee were upon the platform when Mr. Maffitt called the meeting to order. The most conspicuous were Salmon, Noonan and Sherwood, who occupied chairs together on the front row.

The first order of business was the calling of the districts and counties. It was first attempted to have the names announced from the floor, but this plan was abandoned and after a discussion of the best means of making the enrollment, it was decided to have the names sent up to the platform by the Chairmen of the Congressional delegations. Mr. C. C. Fogel of Schuyler proposed to "let all Democrats participate and all Republicans get out," and the suggestion was laughed at, but not adopted.

The canvass among the delegations for the names of those entitled to seats was conducted slowly and amid much confusion. For the first hour after Chairman Maffitt went to his place it looked as though the conference would not get down to business during the entire day.

HARBER'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Ed Harber was introduced by Chairman Maffitt immediately after the latter closed. Mr. Harber made an impassioned plea for harmony, the key note of which was that the Democrats of Missouri are not responsible for the errors of the national Administration, and he counselled them to wait a little before condemning the unwisdom of Cleveland's policy.

Mr. Harber spoke a good word for the State Central Committee, and asked the conferes to listen to its suggestions for harmony.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Mr. John Carroll moved that each Congressional district be represented by one man on a committee to formulate an order of business for the convention, and to fix a basis of representation for the County and Congressional Conventions. The suggestion was adopted after Chairman Maffitt had read the call of the conference. Pursuant to that action the following members of the committee were named:

First District—John P. Mudd of Scotland County.
Second District—Scott J. Miller of Livingstone County.
Third District—F. Y. Crenshaw of DeKalb County.
Fourth District—W. F. Smith of Ottawa County.
Fifth District—J. Hugh Plattenburg of Lafayette County.
Sixth District—W. P. Cruge of Cedar County.
Seventh District—George F. Longan of Pettis County.
Eighth District—J. W. Zevely of Cole County.
Ninth District—H. W. Johnson of Montgomery County.
Tenth District—William F. Broadhead of St. Louis County.
Eleventh District—Thomas J. Lynam of St. Louis City.
Twelfth District—Dr. F. G. Lutz of St. Louis City.
Thirteenth District—Theodore D. Fisher of St. Francois County.
Fourteenth District—O. H. B. Catron of Howell County.
Fifteenth District—B. E. Thurmon of Barton County.

Immediately after the appointment of this committee the conference adjourned until 2 p. m. The committee immediately got together upon the stage. George F. Longan of Sedalia was elected Chairman, and Theodore D. Fisher of St. Francois County, Secretary. The committee first discussed the basis of representation for the county, Senatorial, judicial and Congressional conventions. It was finally decided to recommend to the conference and to the State Committee for the adoption of the various organizations referred to, that the basis of the representation be the last Democratic vote for President. The chief feature of this discussion was as to whether the recommendation of the State Committee would be binding and the recommendation was voted for with the distinct understanding that the State Committee could not compel an adoption of the suggestion.

ZEVELY'S RESOLUTION.

The committee on motion of Mr. J. W. Zevely adopted the following:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the committee, and the committee advises that the county committees of the various counties in the State when they call county conventions for the purpose of selecting delegates to the District and State Conventions, that they include within their call the selection only of delegates to District or State Conventions that have been called by the properly constituted political authorities of said district or State. And that in no event ought a County Committee issue a call to select delegates to any convention which has not been called, and the basis of representation to which has not been fixed by the properly constituted authorities.

LUTZ' SUGGESTION.

Dr. Lutz introduced a motion recommending an organization by precincts throughout the State. He argued that neither in the city nor counties were there enough members of the party charged with the poll of the full vote of the party, and of the purgation of the lists of unlawful votes. A substitute was adopted leaving to a committee of three the work of formulating a method of perfect organization that should be effective throughout the State. The Chairman appointed on that committee Senator B. G. Thurmon, Dr. F. J. Lutz and Mr. Scott J. Miller. The committee took a recess until 1:30 p. m.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The sub-committee went into session at the Laclede Hotel, and after a half hour's deliberation decided to recommend to the full committee a thorough organization of townships and precincts.

The township organization, by the sub-committee's recommendation, would consist of three members, chosen by the County Committee, to co-operate with that committee, and to have as member and chairman ex-officio the member of the County Committee. The organization recommended for the city included a committeeman for each precinct to act under the City Committee, and to be under the immediate direction of the committeeman of the ward.

The recommendations of the sub-committee were reported to the full committee, and approved by it.

At 3 o'clock the convention was again called to order to hear the report of the full committee.

ASHLEY SELLS OUT.

The Picture Dealer's Marital Entanglements Force Him Out of Business.

George M. Ashley filed a bill of sale to-day in the Recorder's office for $400 in favor of George W. Ferguson, whereby he conveys to him all of his property at No. 1015 Pine street, on condition, however, that the sale made to-day be subject to mortgages previously given to Jesse J. Ferguson, George Wolf, R. T. Ashley and John F. Geiger.

Mr. Ashley is the gentleman who has been given a good deal of trouble of late by his wife and by a young woman who was employed in his picture and picture frame store on Pine street. The bill of sale is evidently made so as to keep the property out of the hands of his one or two wives as the case may be.

MEDICAL COLLEGE DEAL.

Beaumont Faculty to Go to the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

It is rumored that the Beaumont Hospital Medical College will be closed and that the faculty will be transferred to the College of Physicians and Surgeons. The faculty of the latter institution accepted new by-laws a month ago, giving the Board of Trustees complete control.

No change has yet been made. Judge Portis of the Board of Trustees could not be found at his office, but it was learned that he was out on an errand connected with the College. Dr. J. E. Keber, Secretary of the faculty of Beaumont College, would neither deny nor affirm the rumor saying that his position forbade him talking, but he said, something would happen very soon.

DARING HIGHWAYMAN.

Knocks Down and Robs a Suburban Conductor on His Car.

Last night, shortly before midnight, a bold robbery was committed on motor car No. 17 of the Suburban road, which was in charge of Conductor Walter Smith. The car was going west at the time and was just paassing Ridge avenue when a tough-looking individual, who had ridden in the coach some distance, pounced upon the conductor and kicking him in the stomach rendered him helpless and unable to call assistance. While the conductor was laid out on the floor, the highway robber went through his pockets, and, taking $26, sprang from the car and made his escape.

The robber is described as a man about 40 years old, about 5 feet 8 inches tall. He was dressed in a brown suit of clothes, sack coat and wore a slouch hat. He had also a full sandy beard and one of the fingers of his left hand was cut off.

The Sixth District police were notified of the robbery shortly after its occurrence and a description of the robber was given to every police officer in the city.

HIS ANSWER.

Fr. Phelan's Reply to Archbishop Kain's Edict.

He Tells the Archbishop That He "Is No Man's Slave."

DISSENTS FROM THE TEACHING OF SATOLLI ON CERTAIN POINTS.

Says That the Position That Bishops Cannot Be Brought Before Secular Courts Is False Doctrine for This Country—Attacks Those Who Hit Him When Down.

In this week's issue of the Western Watchman, under the heading "A Letter From Fr. Phelan," is the editor's reply to last Sunday's denunciation by Archbishop Kain. The reply covers three columns and says in part:

"On Sunday last a letter of Archbishop Kain, administrator of this diocese, was read in all the churches, in which the Catholic people under his jurisdiction were informed, among other things, that the Watchman was a paper unfit to circulate among Catholics and dangerous to their faith. It will not do for us to remain silent under so terrible an arraignment. Silence would be the most emphatic way of expressing contempt; but contempt would be sinful. I respect my ecclesiastical superior. That feeling is inborn in me and has developed into a sturdy habit by intercourse with the two great Archbishops whom for nearly a half century this diocese has known. No priest could have lived thirty-two years under a Kenrick and a Ryan without learning to respect the name and office of an archbishop. I shall show my respect to Archbishop Kain's letter by replying to it.

* * * * * * *

"If I am correctly informed, and the Archbishop himself is my informant, Archbishop Kain entertained and put in practice some views on the school question that Rome considered unsound, and he was ordered to recede from them. I state this only to show where the Archbishop stood in regard to the paper before he came here. When he was chosen by the priests of this diocese for coadjutor, a high dignitary in the church wrote me a letter, bearing date May 22, '93, in which I was told that the choice meant death to the Watchman. I did not heed the warning as I felt sure I could agree with any bishop."

Fr. Phelan then reviews the course of his paper towards Mgr. Satolli and proceeds:

"Some time ago the question of the subjection of ecclesiastics to the civil laws and their amenability to the courts, came up and we contended for the affirmative of the proposition. This brought us into collision with the Apostolic Delegate. Many articles were written and letters passed, but a final statement from the law officer of the delegation was received by me on the 5th inst. Mgr. Sbarretti writes: It is well enough to know that by canon law all ecclesiastics and by greater right bishops are personally exempt from secular courts, whether in ecclesiastical causes, or in causes either civil or criminal, unless the Holy See by a concordat takes away their privilege. This is false teaching for this country. We have no concordat with the Holy See and bishops or other ecclesiastics here have no privilege before the law or in the courts; have no exemptions not enjoyed by other men, and must obey the laws or take the consequences of their infraction like the humblest layman. Mgr. Sotolli holds that ecclesiastics enjoy such exemption, but he has not given the subject any thought and has followed implicitly his auditor. I have no fault to find with the priests who read the circular; it was their duty. But I think it was uncalled for to make any confirmatory remarks; it was cowardly to kick a man when he was down with the heel of a six-foot Archbishop on his neck. This article will be read by millions; and I say that two priests in this city distinguished themselves for their malignity; Fr. Foley, the assistant at St. Kevin's, and the Provincial of Franciscans.

"As to my resistance to Archbishop Kain's assumption of authority I will state that I do not publish the Watchman, but I own it and have paid for every type that prints it. No man but myself and my deceased brother ever put a dollar in it. I own this paper. Now let me say to Archbishop Kain: No man owns me. He comes from an ex-slave State, and he knows what that means. No man owns me."

HIS SKULL FRACTURED.

Probable Murder on the Steamer Idlewild.

George Howard, a negro roustabout, employed on the steamer Idlewild, was taken to the City Hospital this morning in an unconscious and dying condition. Dr. Marks operated upon him and found his skull fractured and a large hole in his brain. He is almost certain to die. William Carroll, second mate of the Idlewild, was arrested this morning charged with inflicting the injuries.

The police who investigated the case claim that Carroll struck Howard over the head with an iron bar for some trifling fault, as the vessel was on its way to St. Louis from Cape Girardeau last Sunday. They arrested Carroll on the boat this morning and took him before United States Commissioner Crawford, who issued a warrant for assault and, in view of the injured man's critical condition, set the bail at $3,000. It is more than probable that the charge will have to be changed to one of murder.

As the assault occurred in midstream the offense comes within the jurisdiction of the Federal authorities.

LOUISVILLE SOUTHERN.

Drexel, Morgan & Co. Want It for the Chesapeake & Ohio.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 22.—Drexel, Morgan & Co. are not trying to get the Louisville Southern for the Richmond Terminal system so much as for the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. The Cincinnati Southern is so far removed from the main system that it cannot be considered a part of the Richmond Terminal. The leading Southern bondholders know this, but they do not all know or even suspect the extent of the scheme now on foot.

The Vanderbilts are backing the syndicate, that is, backing the reorganization of the Richmond Terminal, so far as this reorganization has any backing under the modified plan. The Vanderbilts own the Baltimore & Ohio, which runs into St. Louis. Thence the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, which is controlled by the Vanderbilts, runs into Texas, connecting about 100 miles west of Houston with the Southern Pacific, the private property of C. P. Huntington.

Drexel & Morgan are now reorganizing the Air Line (Mackay system) with a view to putting it in the Vanderbilt system. As soon as this is accomplished the Cheesapeake & Ohio will only lack the Louisville Southern. The Chesapeake & Ohio now runs into Louisville from Lexington over the Louisville & Nashville tracks. The acquisition of the Southern would bring them into Louisville by a route twelve miles shorter than by the Louisville & Nashville.

It is perfectly plain that Drexel, Morgan & Co., who are merely the agents of the Vanderbilts, want the Southern, but they want it as cheap as possible.

Should they force the road to a foreclosure sale, the Louisville & Nashville might gather it in and this would force the Chesapeake & Ohio to use its tracks or build a third line from Lexington to Louisville that would cost $3,500,000 to $4,500,000 and never could be made to pay. The Louisville Southern is therefore a necessary part of the great Vanderbilt Chesapeake & Ohio Transcontinental system.

Wants His Money Back.

John C. Cohen filed a suit for $500, with interest, against A. Graznik of 517 Morgan street, with whom, he says, he deposited $500 for the purpose of saving it and with the privilege of drawing it any time. Graznik refuses to give up the money.

TWO WIVES.

That Is the Charge Against Isidore Tuchler.

Got Out a License To-Day to Marry Rebecca Finberg.

HIS WIFE LEARNS OF IT AND GOES TO THE FOUR COURTS.

Miss Finberg Says That They Were Married—Tuchler Claims No Ceremony Uniting Him With Mrs. Tuchler No. 1 Was Ever Performed—A Queer Case.

What is said to be a mysterious disappearance and elopement developed to-day in a warrant which was issued by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep, charging Isaac Tuchler, a salesman who was in the employ of Kemp & Co., clothiers, at the northeast corner of Broadway and Morgan, with petit larceny. The warrant alleges that Tuchler stole a pair of trousers from the firm and it was issued on the application of David Pareira, who is also employed as a salesman in the same store.

This morning, previous to the issuance of the warrant, Mrs. Tuchler, wife of the alleged missing salesman, called at the clothing shop and brought with her a pair of trousers which it is said she returned to Kemp & Co., as property her husband had stolen a short while previous. Mrs. Tuchler ascertained on this occasion that her husband was not at work, nor was he at home, so she concluded that a conversation he had held with her on Tuesday night had come true.

TUCHLER'S CONFESSION.

Tuesday night Mrs. Tucker claims that her husband while at home informed her that he was the cause of a young girl who lives in the neighborhood of Ninth and O'Fallon streets being in a delicate condition. She was not only surprised to hear this startling information, but her amazement was simply paralyzing when Tuchler asked her to give her consent to his marrying the girl he had wronged, saying he would be saved from much trouble, and that his life would probably be saved from the hands of the irate father of the girl. Mrs. Tuchler claims that she not only refused to give her consent to this, but had denounced her husband for making this alleged proposition. On Wednesday morning he left the house, and she feared he would carry out his alleged intentions of marrying the girl. Fearing that he had, and determined to get a divorce, Mrs. Tuchler called at the Four Courts yesterday and conferred with Chief of Detectives Desmond. She was told that the police could not interfere in such a case, and as she had an idea that her husband intended to get a marriage license, she was referred to Recorder of Deeds Hobbs. Since her husband's departure from home it is said he has not been seen, and it is believed that he has left the city and taken with him the girl he is alleged to have wronged.

LICENSE GRANTED.

It was learned at Recorder Hobbs' office, that a marriage license was issued to Isidore Tuchler, who signed his name Isaac Tucker and gave his residence as Buffalo, to Mrs. Rebecca Finkey, who gave her residence as Dallas, Tex.

Mrs. Finkey was really, however, a saleslady at Crawford's and when she learned this afternoon that the news was out she promptly resigned her position. Tuchler was found by Mr. Pareiro at Broadway and Morgan street at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Pareiro turned him over to Officer Sullivan, who locked him up at the Third District Station. Mrs. Finkey went to see him there and he sent her out to get bond. She says she and Tuchler were married Monday night. This Tuchler neither affirms nor denies, but declares that he was never married to the woman he was living with as his wife. She states they were married at South Bend, Ind., five years ago when she was 16 years old. She says she may prosecute him for bigamy.

WANT JOHN COWAN LOCATED.——John Cowan, 25 years old, and single, has been missing from his home, 2504 University street, since March 18, last, and the police have been asked to locate him.

SLOT MACHINE MEN MEET.——Local agents for nickel-in-the-slot machines held another meeting last night to formulate plans for their mutual protection. They will fight the case against Saloon-keeper Fred Kicker, to be heard at the Four Courts, and if beaten will carry it to the higher courts as a test case. Pending a decision they will ask to be allowed to run. They claim that a man cannot gamble with a dummy. In future no more than four machines are to be placed in one saloon, and a blacklist is to be prepared of all saloons where machines are tampered with. Many agents have agreed to protect their clients from prosecution. Another meeting will be held next Friday evening.

ROBBED OF $160.——Mrs. Allyn of Piqua, O., was robbed of her pocket-book containing $160 while she was sitting in the ladies' waiting room at the Union Depot last night.

KNOCKED DOWN BY ROBBERS

Valentine Herman Has an Early Morning Adventure.

Valentine Herman, who is employed as a clerk in Joseph Dedeck's grocery, at 1201 South Seventh street, got a bad scare this morning at 5:20 o'clock, when he went to the store to open up. Just as he approached the door he saw a man standing near it, and the door was open. Herman did not know what to make of this condition of affairs. He started to go into the store, and just then a man came rushing out and almost knocked him down in colliding with him. Herman made an investigation and found a duplicate key in the door. Further into the store, lying on the floor, he found a carpet slipper. He at once saw that he had surprised two burglars while at work in the store. Nothing was stolen, however.

DE FRANCE CONVICTED.

His Attorneys Tried Hard to Prove an Alibi, but Failed.

KALAMAZOO, Mrrch., 22.—Stonewall J. De France of Detroit was convicted this noon of forgery. The jury was out but a short time. On Nov, 23, 1891, a forged draft for $12,500 was presented at the First National Bank in this city by Lewis Forest, representing himself about to buy a farm, and he obtained $5,000.

Stonewall J. De France, under arrest at Detroit in the fall of 1893, answered to Forest's description, and he was brought here charged with being Forest and having committed the crime. Bank officers and others who were brought into contact with Forest identified De France as the man, although Forest was disguised, with a moustache and spectacles. The defense attempted to prove an alibi. They claimed that De France attended church in Detroit at the same hour that Forest attended church. They introduced contracts made between De France and certain Galvins on Nov. 24, 1891, at the same time that Forest was securing his $5,000 in this city.

The prosecution proved by a Detroit lawyer that he was hired by De France to make these contracts and executed them in January, 1894, while De France was in Kalamazoo Jail. De France is accused of similar crimes in Minneapolis and elsewhere and officerr have been waiting to rearrest him in case of his acquittal.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A Louisville & Nashville Depot and a Post-Office Burned.

MASCOUTAH, Ill., March 22.—A heavy thunder and rain storm prevailed in this section last night. The Louisville & Nashville Depot at New Memphis, east of here, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground.

The Post-office was also destroyed. Fortunately, there was no one in the building at the time. The loss is about $2,000.

The Blizzard Continues.

OMAHA, Neb., March 22.—The blizzard that has been raging over the Northwest for forty-eight hours continued to-day in Western and Central Nebraska, Eastern Wyoming and the Black Hills.

The snow has ceased falling west of Cheyenne, but a terrific gale is blowing. The Elkhorn road is snowed up west of O'Neill and the Burlington's Wyoming line is entirely blockaded. The snow reached the Missouri River to-day, but only in light flurries.

The snow varies from a foot on a level at Sydney to four feet at Spear Fish. The effect on cattle will be disastrous, as all the big ranges of the State are in the district covered by the deep snow.

Snow, Sleet and Wind.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., March 22.—The snow and sleet storm of last night and to-day has broken telephone, fire alarm and police patrol wires. The wind has been blowing a perfect gale, but in the wrong direction to blow the ice out of the lake, and it is banked in immense blocks upon the shore. Trains are late and street cars are not running. Business is nearly suspended.

All Trains Delayed.

MOORHEAD, Minn., March 22.—Two feet of snow has fallen since last night and a high wind has been blowing. All trains are delayed.

Floods and Storms.

The trestles on the Cotton Belt road in the Saline River bottom in Arkansas have been washed out. No trains are running betweed Rison and Texarkana.

All south-bound Iron Mountain trains are laid up at Little Rock, Ark., owing to the washouts to the south.

No trains have come in or gone out of Hot Springs, Ark., since Monday, owing to the high water causing washouts on all the roads.

The worst storm of the winter is raging throughout the northern part of Wyoming.

Four feet of snow has fallen within the past forty-eight hours in the Dakota Black Hills region, and a terrible blizzard has been raging.

All trains in the vicinity of Chadron, Neb., are snowbound in a terrible blizzard, which has been raging thirty-six hours.

THE WEATHER.

Generally Fair and Decidedly Colder To-Night—Cold Wave Later.

EMPORIA, Kan., March 22.—Clear cold weather set in here last night with a heavy frost. In some places ice nearly an inch thick formed. Many farmers declare that the entire fruit crop is killed, while others say only peaches will suffer much.

Low Temperature at Kansas City.

NORTON STAYS

Appointed Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service.

Permanently Supersedes Lindsay in the St. Louis Division.

A VICTORY FOR CONGRESSMAN DOCKERY OVER CONGRESSMAN COBB.

The Latter Said to Have Favored Chief Clerk T. H. Beggs, the Local Candidate, Who Was Also the Choice of His Fellow Employes—Republican Mail Clerks Now Fear Decapitation—Reticence in Discussing the Appointment.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—F. D. Norton has been appointed Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service for the St. Louis division. The appointment is a victory for Congressman Dockery.

When Supt. Lindsay resigned the position of Superintendent of this division and Norton was appointed his successor pro tem. the news was received with displeasure among the mail clerks and the employes, and this feeling was deepened considerably when it became known that his appointment had been made permanent. The gloom which has hung over the office for the past few days has materially increased by the news.

The clerks had hoped that some one out of their division, the Seventh, would have been appointed to to fill the vacancy, and they regard the appointment of Mr. Norton of the Sixth Division, with headquarters at Chicago, as an infringement on their rights. They were also outspoken in their desire for the appointment of T. H. Beggs, one of the chief clerks of this division, and a general favorite in the office. Congressman Cobb was understood to be pushing Mr. Beggs' claims and great hopes of success were entertained. There was no lack of other local Democratic candidates.

Politics has of course figured greatly in the appointment and the results are naturally dreaded, since the majority of employes are said to be Republicans. Three out of the four chief clerks in the local office are Republicans and their decapitation is likely to quickly follow the accession to power of Mr. Norton.

LOCAL EMPLOYES RETICENT.

There was apparently a feeling of reticence and distrust around the offices of the Railway Mail Service this morning when a POST-DISPATCH reporter first informed the employes that the appointment had been made permanent. No one cared to give expression to any sentiment either of pleasure or disgust. Suspicion was in the atmosphere, and though the news was generally credited, yet there were some who expressed the hope that it might still be incorrect and that there might yet be a chance for other candidates more acceptable to them. These hopes were, however, expressed in a half-hearted manner, which showed that they would soon be dispelled.

By accident the reporter first visited the office of Chief Clerk Beggs. Mr. Beggs was not in, but a clerk in the office, affecting extreme ignorance, professed not to know anyone connected with the service, named F. D. Norton. He directed the reporter to the office of Asst. Supt. S. P. Taft, who he said might be able to give some information about him.

Mr. Taft was seen and asked to express an opinion upon the appointment, but refused to give one. It was learned, however, from conversation with different employes, that the news had given anything but pleasure. Most of those present when questioned "presumed" that Mr. Norton would make a capable superintendent, but the tone in which they said it indicated that if they were given the opportunity they could name some one more acceptable and fully as capable.

BEGGS WILL NOT TALK.

Chief Clerk Beggs would not express any opinion, merely saying that he had never heard Mr. Norton's ability questioned and that he had expected his appointment.

A clerk in the office descended in the elevator with the reporter and voiced the sentiments of the others when he said, "I was a Republican when I went up in this elevator. I guess I'll have to be a Democrat now."

THE THIRD TRIAL.

A Suit Involving Title to 200 Acres of Land.

The suit of Joshua Hickman against the administrator of Mary I. Link's estate was again called for trial to-day, after two trials in St. Louis County, each of which resulted in a different verdict and each of which was appealed and taken up to the Supreme Court and there reversed and remanded for retrial. In the first trial the judgment was for the plaintiff. In the appeal to the Supreme Court this judgment was set aside.

On the second trial, which was also in St. Louis County, the defendant got a judgment and the plaintiff appealed, securing a reversal.

Then a change of venue was taken to St. Louis, and to-day the case went to trial in Judge Fisher's court.

The fight is over about 200 acres of land in the western part of St. Louis County and was at one time a part of the estate of Mary I. Link, who is now deceased. Joshua Hickman claims a title to the land and brought an ejectment suit against the administrator of the Link estate for possession. All the Link heirs join with the administrator and make a fight for the land. The result of the present trial is very doubtful.

HIS HARD TASK

Breckinridge Will Pose as a Greatly Wronged Man.

All Miss Pollard's Testimony Must Be Brushed Aside.

UNIMPORTANT DEPOSITIONS SUBMITTED BY THE DEFENSE TO-DAY.

The Defendant Not Yet Placed in the Witness Chair—Laying the Groundwork of the Case—Spectators Sorely Disappointed at Not Hearing the Story of the Silver-Tongued Kentuckian.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—There was a crush at the portals of Judge Bradley's Court to-day, such as had been seen at no other opening of the famous scandal suit. And in the crowd anxious to gain admission were many men of public fame as law-makers, for it was supposed the famous defendant, Col. Breckinridge, would be called to the witness stand and by his testimony endeavor to support his claim made by his counsel yesterday that he, and not Miss Pollard, was the injured party in the now celebrated breach of promise case. But the spectators who early secured eligible seats were doomed to disappointment. The man of the silver tongue was not placed on the witness stand to tell the story of his temptation and fall through the wicked snares of a Kentucky school girl. But instead the morning was consumed in the tedious recital of depositions of unimportant witnesses.

The plea of the defense made by Attorney Stoll yesterday afternoon was the subject of comment in Washington hotel lobbies and in private circles last night. The general conclusion is that it will require a great effort on the part of the defense to sustain it against the sworn statements of Miss Pollard, supported by the strong corroborative evidence of Mrs. Blackburn and the Lexington mulatto, Sarah Guess.

THE POINT AT ISSUE.

Since the defense have shown their hands the issue is clearly joined. They will attempt to prove that Miss Pollard has told an untruth as to her age when she met Breckinridge; that she was then 21 years old; that she planned and brought about the meeting at the Sarah Guess house; that no promise of marriage was ever made to plaintiff, and that Mrs. Blackburn was led to receive this impression by a wrong construction of language used in her presence by defendant.

The result seems to hinge entirely on the story Breckinridge will tell when he faces the jury, and how well his story will hang together after he has passed through the hands, in cross-examination, of Carlisle and Wilson, Miss Pollard's keen-witted attorneys. To use Breckinridge's own words, quoted by Miss Pollard, when she led him into the presence of Chief of Police Moore, "one of the tragedies of life" seems now to open up before him.

When the court convened the reading of depositions was taken up again. Miss Pollard was seated beside her lawyer, Judge Wilson, talking to him with a smile playing across her face, and once as she talked she glanced over her shoulder at the white-haired defendant. Before Attorney Stoll had proceeded far with his elocutionary effort Miss Pollard and her company rose and glided from the room, interrupting for the moment the reading.

SISTER AUGUSTINE'S STATEMENT.

The first deposition was that of Sister Augustine of the Convent Asylum, where Miss Pollard's first child was born. The sister had been for years at the convent, did not recognize Miss Pollard, who had been at the convent, and said there never had been but one Louise Wilson there and she gave birth to a child there last fall. During the time Miss Pollard claimed to have been in the institution there had been a young woman there veiled most of the time. There was a rather unusual incident when Mr. Stoll read out the name of this young woman, who had claimed to be from a Northern State, then apologized and explained to the Court that the sister had only given the name under the condition that it was to be kept secret and not to be repeated. This sister had been present at the interview in the convent between Miss Pollard, Attorneys Carlisle and Johnson and Sister Agnes, whose deposition had been read yesterday. Sister Augustine also failed to recognize Miss Pollard.

GERTRUDE BURGOYNE.

Her recollection of Miss Pollard's explanation of her motive for bringing the suit was that it would secure justice. The entries on the convent books under the name of Miss Burgoyne corresponded with the dates which Miss Pollard and Dr. Street had given of her admittance to the asylum, the birth of the child and her departure. The name of the child on the record was Gertrude Burgoyne. According to the recollection of the Sister, Miss Burgoyne had visited the convent twice after the child was born. The child had died in July, 1885. When Miss Pollard was told of this, the sister deposed, she had thrown up her hands and run from the room, but when she returned there were no evidences of grief in her face.

When in the course of deposition Attorney Stoll began to read testimony concerning the visit of one of Miss Pollard's attorneys, Mr. Mallon, to the convent, Mr. Carlisle objected to it as irrelevant. Whatever one of Miss Pollard's attorneys might have done at the convent, not in the presence of the parties to the suit, but in the pursuit of his professional duties, he urged, was irrelevant. Mr. Stoll protested that he wanted to show that all facilities had been granted the plaintiff's representatives for securing information at the convent, Col. Shelby added that the attorney had gone into the capacity of agent for Miss Pollard, therefore his acts were binding upon her, a construction of the relations of client and attorney from which the Judge dissented, sustaining the objection of Mr. Carlisle.

It developed that Attorney Mallon had examined the books of the convent and copied some of the entries, Judge Bradley admitting their statements of fact, but excluding the conversation which had taken place between the attorney and the sister.

The Christmas card which had been found between the leaves of one of the volumes of Washington Irving, given to the convent by Miss Pollard, was produced with this deposition and displayed to the jury. It was a large souvenir, six by eight inches, with fringed edges, on which was caught and pressed a faded rose.

SISTER AGNES' DEPOSITION.

The first deposition on the side of the defense was read to the jury just preceding the adjournment of court last evening. It did not seem to have a very important bearing on the facts at issue.

The deposition had been taken at the Norwood Convent Asylum, near Cincinnati, where the Sister had been in 1885.

Deponent did not know Madeline Pollard, but had for the first time seen her in December, 1893, in the library next to the office with Messrs. Carlisle and Johnson, her attorneys, when Miss Pollard had asked if the Sister knew her, but the Sister did not. Deponent questioned her, but she did not remember the Sister, nor who had been the Mother Superior. Miss Pollard had said that she went under the name of Louise Wilson, but when the Sister had said that no Louise Wilson had been there, but that a girl named Burgoyne had a child there at the time, Miss Pollard had replied: "Oh, that was the name I went by. There were so many of them I did not remember."

Miss Pollard had said when the Sister suggested a compromise, that Mr. Breckenridge had no money, and that she was suing him to disgrace him. The Sister had said that Mr. Breckenridge would still be Mr. Breckenridge after the trial; that his friends would receive him, while the woman would be ruined.

Attorney Johnson had said: "But he will not be called upon to address young ladies' seminaries and open prayer meetings," to which the sister had replied that she presumed there were others at prayer meetings as bad as Mr. Breckinridge was accused of being.

No inquiries had been made by Miss Pollard, so far as the sister knew, about the child she claimed to have given birth to there. As the sister remembered Miss Burgoyne, she had been shorter than Miss Pollard and lighter, and had seemed very fond of reading.

WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—Ever since the Pollard-Breckenridge case has been on trial there has been much theorizing concerning the source of Miss Pollard's funds to meet the great expense of her lawsuit. A telegram from Cincinnati, published here to-day, quotes Mrs. Buchanan, who was here last week as a witness for Miss Pollard, as stating that the plaintiff's expenses are being paid out of a fund raised by certain persons in this city, high in Washington society circles, who feel agrieved at Breckinridge for introducing Miss Pollard here as a worthy young woman, whom he was going to make his wife. The story receives much credence, as it is known that the feeling against the defendant is very pronounced among many of his former friends, and they would be pleased to see Miss Pollard win her case.

BOUGHT A CHURCH SITE.

St. Stephen's Mission's Purchase—Samuel Simmons Buys Olive Street Property.

St. Stephen's Mission of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America this morning secured a permanent church site by the purchase of a lot of ground 85x85 feet at the southeast corner of Sixth and Rutger streets. The purchase was made through the agency of Storm & Farish, and the price paid was $5,000. Antoinette Thomas, the grantor, has held the property for over sixty years. St. Stephen's Episcopal Mission has been in the market for a good church site for some time, and their real estate committee, consisting of Rev. Dr. Elmer and Messrs. Wm. Boquel and F. J. McMaster, have thoroughly looked over the neighborhood. The church edifice used by them at present is rented and will be given up as soon as a new church can be erected upon the site secured. The new church will be called St. Stephens, after the mission from which it sprung.

OLIVE STREET PROPERTY.

Col. Samuel Simmons, the well-known real estate operator, yesterday purchased two pieces of Olive street property on either side of Culver way, one for $100 and the other for a fraction less than $106 a front foot. The property is on the south side of the street. He bought 60 feet at $6,500 from Thomas F. Farrelly and 45 feet at $4,500 from A. C. Marsh.

The property was part of the Hardy estate, which was offered last spring at auction. These particular pieces, however, were sold at private sale and it is said that Mr. Marsh paid $125 a front foot for the piece he sold today for $100 a foot.

AGENTS' REPORTS.

The Nicholls-Ritter Realty and Financial Co. report the following sales:

GIVEN TWO YEARS.

Hugh Higgins' Light Sentence for Ruining Three Children.

Hugh Higgins, the man who was arrested last winter and indicted on three charges for criminally assaulting Rosa Killmade, Annie Wittowat and Emma Larek, three little girls of 11, 10 and 8 years, respectively, was arraigned for trial in the Criminal Court this morning on one of the charges and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to only two years in the penitentiary. The other two cases were continued generally. Higgins is a man 58 years of age, and the assault occurred in his restaurant, 209 South Seventh street. The girls, who were mere children, had their health ruined, and two of them had to be sent to the hospital for treatment. The case called for trial this morning was that of Rosa Killmade of 1013 Lafayette avenue.

THE POLICE INDIGNANT.

Acting Chief of Police Reedy, when he heard of the sentence, gave utterance to an expression which he asked the reporter not to put in the paper.

"But what is the use in my talking," said he. "That is a sample of the manner in which justice is administered here and the way that the law is enforced."

A FOOLISH ROBBER.

Tried to Hold Up a Real Estate Man and Got the Worst of It.

H. D. Pollock, a real estate dealer at 522 Pine street, was held up at Glasgow avenue and Magazine street this morning by a man who attempted to rob him. The real estate man showed fight and the robber ran. Pollock chased him and Officer Healy coming upon the scene joined in the chase and caught the man who gave him his name as James Bordin. A warrant charging attempted highway robbery was issued against him. Pollock had $48 and a valuable watch on him.

UNION PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

No Meeting Held This Forenoon—Constructive Mileage Causes a Hitch.

OMAHA, Neb., March 22.—The Union Pacific trainmen were not ready to submit their new schedule to President Clark this morning, and so no conference was held at railroad headquarters. The representatives of the men, however, notified Mr. Clark that their schedule would be completed and ready for submission at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

It has developed that the cause of the hitch has been a disagreement between the trainmen and the enginemen over inequalities in the schedules prepared. The "constructive mileage" feature is again at the bottom of the trouble. In some divisions the officials have allowed brakemen and conductors constructive mileage, but have not granted the same privilege to the engineers and firemen.

The enginemen do not say that the trainmen are receiving too much pay in these cases, but they demand that they be given the same advantages. On other divisions the enginemen have the best of it, and the trainmen want a raise. The men are trying to get together, but there is so far no prospect of success.

NO DECISION GIVEN.

The Kansas City Waterworks Case—Intervening Petition Not Filed.

The Kansas City Waterworks again engaged the attention of Judges Caldwell and Philips in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today. The attorneys for the city and for the National Waterworks Co. were present in force. As soon as the judges took their seats Mr. R. H. Hamilton of Kansas City, who gave notice last evening that he would file an intervening petition this morning, arose and said that he would file the petition together with an application for a receiver at Omaha, Neb., next Tuesday. The intervening petition will be filed in behalf of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., trustee for the first mortgage bondholders, to whom the waterworks company is indebted for $1,500,000. Mr. Frank Hageman followed Mr. Hamilton and read a specification which Judge Caldwell yesterday suggested would be well for the city to draw up and insert in the record. The specification set forth that if, as the Waterworks company averred, it has a system of works, such as required by an ordinance passed March 24, 1873, the complainant, Kansas City, was ready and willing to pay for the plant a fair and equitable value, and was always prepared to fulfill its duties and perform its obligations under the contract with the company, including the payment of money. But the specification proceeded to say that if the court drew up a decree ordering the contract to be enforced the decree should be accompanied by conditions requiring the company to furnish an efficient water supply and distribution system, and also furnish water free of charge until the city was given possession. The city also asked that by the decree the court directs the defendant company to pay over all the income collected since Nov. 15, 1893. After the specification had been read, Judge Caldwell asked the representatives of Kansas City whether they still maintained their attitude toward the $90,000 set aside for the payment of interest on bonds which were never issued, namely if the city still insisted that this money could not be used for hydrant rentals. Messrs. O. H. Dean and James Hageman, answering the Judge's questions, said that the money was still in the treasury of Kansas City, but the issue of bonds is almost ready for sale. The attorneys promised to give the judges copies of all decrees in the proceedings and the court adjourned without any intimation having been given as to when a decree would be entered.

The suit was for $4,708.10 with interest from Jan. 24, 1891, the sum being the alleged balance due the plaintiff on account of exchange business. The plaintiff got judgment for $5,578.74 and the defendant appealed.

INTERSTATE IRRIGATION CONVENTION.

Nearly the Entire Forenoon Spent in Debating Resolutions.

OMAHA, Neb., March 22.—Nearly the entire morning meeting of the Interstate Irrigation Convention was spent in executive session debating the series of resolutions prepared by the Executive Committee. The principal fight was made over the clause demanding that Congress make an appropriation to test the practicability of irrigation by means of artesian wells. No conclusion was reached and the debate was continued until afternoon.

Gov. Crounse of Nebraska made a brief address of welcome. Charles A. Gregory of New York and Chicago talked on "Irrigation and Continental Development," and Ira C. Hubbell of Kansas City read a paper on "Pumping Machinery for Irrigation."

The convention took a recess for the purpose of visiting the South Omaha stockyards.

MISS FULLER'S MURDER.

Probing the Mysterious Killing of the Typewriter—Some Important Evidence.

NEW YORK, March 22.—When the inquest in the case of Miss Martha J. Fuller, the typewriter who was killed in Lawyer Mullin's office last Saturday, is begun on Monday next, it is believed there will be an abundance of evidence brought out to establish a case of murder. Joseph T. Magee, the young lawyer, who found the woman lying on the floor a moment or two after she had been shot is still locked up in prison on suspicion of having caused her death.

Frank Kernan will be an important witness in the case. He was called into the room by Magee a few moments after the shooting, and helped to lift Miss Fulton from the floor. He says he saw no pistol on the floor where it was afterwards found, though he looked about for the weapon, and is certain that it was not there at that time, and must have been placed on the floor by some one after he left the room.

When Mr. Kernan's story is analysed in court by experts, as it undoubtedly will be, its important bearing on the charge of homicide already made against Magee will be evident. Magee's first statement to the police was that when he entered the room the woman was lying on the carpet on her right side, with the pistol near her right hand. Mr. Kernan's story shows that he himself placed her in a prostrate position, and that no pistol was in sight.

All those who saw Martha Fuller's body between 5 p. m., Saturday, and the time it was removed to the undertaking establishment on James street, say the wound in the left temple did not bleed. Every one, including Mr. Kernan, who saw her within three minutes after the shot was fired, says that blood came freely from the wound in the right temple, where the pistol bullet made its exit. But when Mr. Kernan entered the room blood was oozing down the woman's right cheek and down to her jacket. There was no blood on the left side of her face, but on the carpet a foot away from her left hand was a pool of blood.

If Magee shot the pretty typewriter with whom he has been associated in the office for nearly two years, the motive for the shooting must still be found. It may be discovered by the investigations which Supt. Byrnes is making. These investigations are disclosing slowly but surely a great deal of secret history in the lives of these two persons—the accused lawyer and the dead typewriter.

Magee, it will be remembered, in his first statement to the police, said that he knew nothing whatever of Miss Fuller outside of the office, and that their relations were those of two people who worked together in the same room during the day time, and that was all. But it is now learned that Magee made at least three or four visits to Miss Fuller at her home, and the dead typewriter's relatives all say that she frequently complained of Magee's persistent attentions to her. Now comes the reluctant admission from Lawyer Mullin that the two corresponded while Magee was visiting his mother in Ireland.

MORGAN'S IDEA

Let a Tariff Commission Do the Work of Congress.

The Alabama Senator Will Press Consideration of His Plan.

A HARD FIGHT WILL BE MADE ON THE INCOME TAX.

All the "Conservative" Senators Oppose This Provision of the Wilson Bill—Protectionist Democrats Masquerading as Tariff Reformers—Schemes of the Whisky and Sugar Trust Men—A Clash of Interests.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—Just before the meeting of the Senate to-day Senator Morgan declared to a group of tariff reformers that the whole matter of tariff changes should be taken out of the hands of Congress and expressed an intention to press his proposed amendment to the tariff bill providing for the appointment of a tariff commission. He said: "The purpose of the amendment is to provide for changes of the tariff upon an equitable basis without the disturbance in business which is always the result of an effort to make a complete revision. If the matter should be placed in the hands of a commission, as is proposed by the amendment, changes could be made to suit the condition of the treasury, or of any special industry, and they would be so gradual, if made in accordance with the provisions of the amendment, as not to create the least disturbance."

The proposed commission is to consist of four members beside the Secretary of the Treasury, two of whom are to reside east and two west of the Mississippi, and no more than three of them are to be members of any one party.

Senator Morgan's plan is to take tariff revision entirely out of the hands of Congress and leave it to the proposed board and the President. It is made the duty of the board to make inquiry as to the rates of duty imposed upon any article imported into the United States and to ascertain and determine whether the rates are greater or less than is just, necessary and proper for the raising of revenue, and their decision is to be reported to the President, who, if he approves it, is required to issue a proclamation stating the decision of the board, giving the increase or decrease and requiring customs officers to assess and collect duties upon the articles mentioned in accordance with the decision of the board.

TO DEFEAT THE INCOME TAX.

The tariff bill in its present form will produce a surplus in revenue of from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000. The bulk of this excess over the estimated receipts under the operations of the Wilson bill will be derived from the tax on sugar and the increase in the tax on whisky. The estimated revenue from the income tax is about $30,000,000 and it is expected that the friends of the trusts in the Senate will combine to eliminate, if possible, this feature of the bill, so that the whisky and sugar schedules cannot be changed. With the income tax out of the bill the receipts will meet the expenses of the Government. The friends of the income tax in the House entertain a suspicion that the increase in the schedules was designed to accomplish the defeat of this feature and it is now believed that the fight in the Senate will take the shape of a contest between the monopolies and the income tax.

The Wilson bill, when it was sent to the Senate, made a deficit in revenue which was estimated at about $64,000,000, and those Senators who have been masquerading as tariff reformers, but who were practically protectionists, offered as a justification for their demands that the measure be modified, that it should be brought to a revenue basis.

The strife between the Sugar and Whisky trusts, however, which resulted in the suspiciously liberal concessions to both monopolies has exposed the insincerity of the pretense of these protectionist Democrats. The bill reported, as a result of all this jugglery, is a surplus measure, but every one believes the Democratic majority cannot afford to pass it in its present form. There is a widespread conviction that the trusts will suffer in the open Senate, or the income tax will have to be sacrificed. It was within Senator McPherson's power in the committee to have had the income tax stricken from the bill, and it is not a secret that many Senators who have been pretending to their constituents that they were in favor of a tax on accumulated wealth, besieged the Senator from New Jersey to vote with the Republicans, thereby saving these hypocritical Senators from embarrassment in the Senate. Senator McPherson, while opposed to the income tax, refused to accept the responsibility, and a score or more of Senators are now much agitated as to what their course will be in the Senate.

It is no secret that all of the conservative Senators, with the possible exception of the Senators from Louisiana, are opposed to the income tax for political reasons. With the exception, possibly, of Senator Hill, every one of these conservatives has received a concession in favor of some local industries, with the result that the bill as reported provides for more revenue than is required. It will be seen that the situation in the Senate is very complicated and that, moreover, the bill in its present form is not likely to receive the indorsement of the majority. It is asserted that the measure will command the united support of the Democratic side, but those who are familiar with the exact status of affairs believe that further modifications in several important schedules will have to be made before a vote is reached.

Now that the bill has been reported, some interesting stories are told of what happened at the hearings before the Democratic sub-Committee, when certain members of the conservative clique appeared and made their demands. It is stated on the authority of the Democratic members of the committee that Senator Hill was the most persistent advocate for material changes, and that he received less in the way of concessions than any other conservative. Senator Hill is much wrought up over the scant recognition accorded him by the Democratic members of the committee, and has made no effort to conceal his disgust over the committee's action.

COLD COMFORT FOR HILL.

Of all the Eastern Senators who have been opposing the changes made in the Wilson bill, Senator Hill apparently has been regarded by the representatives of the leading industries affected, as the strongest man to make the fight in their behalf. Many outside of his State appealed to him to plead their cause. Senator Hill appeared before the committee some three weeks ago and had the attention of the Democratic members for two long hours. He had his arguments carefully prepared, somewhat in the form of a lawyer's brief. It contained a list of twenty odd industries and a voluminous assortment of statistics intended to prove the disastrous effects which would follow the operation of the Wilson bill. He took the industries up separately and made arguments in favor of an increase in each case. Senator Hill did not exhaust his brief, as he discovered early in his argument that the committee was in no mood to grant him any of the concessions he sought.

Senators Vest and Jones pointed out to him, in very emphatic language, why the changes he advocated should not be made. Senator Hill became sarcastic, and made some sharp replies to the criticisms raised by these two Senators. The discussion between the three Senators is said to have been marked by several spicy retorts. Senator Hill declared that it was an easy task for the Western and Southern Senators to frame a tariff bill, as their sections would not experience the serious effects of cuts that could be felt by the industries of the East. He said, moreover, that while theories might be acceptable in the farming sections of the country they would not apply in the manufacturing centers. Senator Hill spoke particularly for the silk, gloves, carpets, pottery, and glassware schedules, but in no case was any change made at his suggestion. He retired from the committee-room in deep disgust, and has stated that he will carry his fight into the open Senate. It is said that the second increase in the protection on collars and cuffs was intended as a direct slap at his colleague, Senator Murphy. It is well known that Senator Murphy did not expect the second advance of 10 per cent. The cut in the duty on linens and cottons, with a tax of 45 per cent, would give the collar manufacturers almost as much protection as they had under the McKinley law.

This incident serves to illustrate fairly the character of the influences that have guided the committee in making many of the important changes in the bill.

Now Senator Hill is on the war-path, and the Democratic members of the committee are somewhat apprehensive that the fight he will make will result in some embarrassing complications. The New York Senator, in vulgar parlance, was "turned down," and now intends to have revenge.

WHISKY AND SUGAR TRUSTS.

The situation in the Senate as the result of the general dissatisfaction bids fair to lead to some interesting developments. Both the Whisky and the Sugar Trusts realize that the tariff bill, in order that it may be brought to a revenue basis, will have to be materially cut. It is believed that the income tax will be passed, and in that event the struggle between the two trusts will become even more bitter than it was before the Finance Committee. The Democratic members agree that the surplus cannot be justified, and the cut of necessity will have to be made on the sugar or whisky schedules.

As indicated in the telegram to the POST-DISPATCH yesterday, the Sugar Trust is playing a very carefully arranged scheme, both here and in New York. It was stated in these dispatches that the trust would use its influence to prevent a rise in the Sugar certificates on the New York Exchange. Strange enough, this was clearly verified by the decline in the quotations. Mr. Searles, who is the chief representative of the trust in the city, has been besieged all day with telegrams of inquiry from speculators in New York.

Any big advance in sugar will in all probability insure an absolute repudiation of the Senate sugar schedule by the House conferrees, and in order to justify the assertions of its representatives that free sugar would involve the complete destruction of the refineries in this country, an advance in sugar now would prove a suicidal move on the part of the trust. It is understood here that the trust plan is to so manipulate the market that when the sugar schedule is reached in conference the opponents of the sugar tax will be unable to advance the argument that the tax is wholly for the benefit of the trust. Carefully laid as this plan appears to be, it will not deceive those who advocated the placing of sugar on the free list. For the present, however, the trust representatives are more interested in the probable fight on the sugar schedule in the Senate.

A CLASH OF INTERESTS.

The Whisky Trust men are apparently in the fight to stay, and a clash between the representatives of the two monopolies in the Senate is expected. The whisky men are opposed to an extension of the bonded period, which is in the interest of the whisky distilleries of Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Maryland, but they were unable to defeat the influence brought to bear by the Senators from the three States. The friends of the trust were successful in preventing an extension of the bonded period beyond five years in the House, but when the bill got to the Senate they discovered that they could not hold this advantage. There is no longer any doubt that the trust will be able to raise a sufficient amount of capital to withdraw its surplus stock from bond and thus realize the profits from the 20-cent increase in the tax. It is a matter of gossip here that a syndicate of Western capitalists, headed by Nelson Marsh of Chicago, is prepared to furnish the necessary capital.

The Democratic majority in the Senate is so small that it is not believed the leaders will attempt to force a vote on the measure in its present form. The bill was reported not because it had been so shaped as to meet the widely divergent views of the Democratic majority, but to prevent any further controversy before the committee itself. The Democratic members declare that all changes that are made in the future will have to be proposed and fought out in the open Senate, and that individual Senators instead of the committee must assume the responsibility.

PACIFIC RAILWAYS.

Vast Debt Due the Government From the Various Roads.

WHAT REPRESENTATIVE REILLY HAS TO SAY ON THE SUBJECT.

One of the More Important Questions Before Congress, Ranking With the Tariff and Financial Measures—The Amount Involved Is About $135,000,000—General Washington Topics.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—Conspicuous attention of late has been given to the Pacific railway question, owing to the numerous means suggested for the collection of the vast debt due the Government from the various Pacific roads. Concerning the subject, Representative Reilly of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the House Committee on Pacific Railroads, said to-day:

"I regard this as one of the more important questions before Congress, not excepting the tariff and finance. But the very importance of the question demands that it should be treated with deliberation. The amount involved is about $135,000,000, and the proper protection of the Government and the collection of such a sum require the most deliberate and careful action on the part of Congress. The construction of these roads is undoubtedly one of the great achievements of the age, but with all its complicating environments by way of legislation and judicial decisions it comes down to us as one of the war measures, the original legislation having been enacted during the exciting days of the war of the rebellion; and now that we are confronted with the solution of this great problem, owing to the rapid approach of the maturity of this enormous debt and the necessity for some legislation, the importance of the subject is at once apparent. But at the outset we are confronted with all these complications of laws and decisions covering a period of years, and quite as complex and of as great magnitude as any question with which Congress has had to deal during recent years.

"We have arrived at a stage in the history of this transaction when legislation of some character is absolutely necessary, and previous legislation on the subject has been deferred, awaiting the approach of the maturity of this debt, when the situation and its necessities could be better understood and more wisely considered. The first installment of the bonds issued by the Government in aid of the construction of these roads falls due in January, 1895, and must be provided for during the next fiscal year. As the Secretary of the Treasury calls the attention of Congress to it in his recent annual report, the whole debt will be maturing from that date during the next four years. The first installment of bonds amounts to $2,362,000. They are absolutely payable on the date of their maturity, and hence the necessity for legislation in this respect.

"The Committee on Pacific Railroads, made up of some of the strongest men in the House, are giving the subject their most earnest consideration and feel it their duty to frame and report some satisfactory legislation. Several bills bearing on the subject are before the committee. In considering these and all other measures our only purpose is to protect the interest of the Government, and to that end the subject will be pressed to final action at the earliest possible day. But the magnitude and importance of the subject necessarily require and demand the most careful and deliberate research and consideration. The committee expect to have hearings by all parties interested and to exercise their most earnest efforts to arrive at a just solution of this great problem. What conclusion the committee may arrive at or the character of the legislation they may determine to report, it is yet too early to predict. One thing is certain, however, that the committee fully appreciates the gravity of the responsibility imposed upon it and intends to meet it fully, with an eye to securing the best possible protection of the Government's interests."

PRODUCTION OF GOLD.

An Increase of $11,000,000 Estimated for Last Year.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—A production of gold throughout the world of $150,000,000 for the calendar year 1894, is the latest estimate of the Bureau of the Mint and the figures which have recently been received verify the estimate made early in the year. The gold production of 1892, as revised in the last report of the Mint Bureau, was $138,861,000. The increase of $11,000,000 will be mainly furnished by the United States, South Africa and Russia.

The figures for the United States, although not yet quite complete, indicate an increase of $4,000,000 over those for 1892; the increase in South Africa will be about $6,000,000; in Russia about half a million, and in Australia also about half a million. There will be small gains in other countries, including China and Japan, but they may be offset by small losses elsewhere.

The returns from Russia and Australia are not yet complete and may show an even larger increase than has been estimated by Mint Director Preston. The reports which are constantly reaching the Treasury Department indicate that the production of gold is being pushed to its maximum and that improved processes of extracting the metal will be used to their utmost limit to increase the output for 1894.

Gold to the value of $60,000 was deposited within a day or two at the Denver mint and like deposits are likely to come at frequent intervals during the remainder of the year.

The Cherokee Bonds.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—The matter of proper legal form of certificate to be used in transferring the $6,400,000 bonds of the Cherokee Nation to the firm of R. T. Wilson & Co. of New York will probably be decided late this afternoon. The question has been referred by Secretary Smith to Assistant Atty.-Gen. Hall. The action will probably close the bond controversy, though Edwin D. Chadick of New York, who was recently refused a mandamus to compel issuance of the bonds to him, has given notice of appeal to the Court of Appeals from Judge Cox's adverse decision.

Thirty Young Women Quit Work and Cannot Now Get Back.

Thirty young ladies, employed by the Walker Manufacturing Co. at their plant on Iron street and the Iron Mountain Railroad in Carondelet, struck yesterday, and were promptly discharged by the company. The concern, it is alleged, was four weeks behind with their pay, and on Monday morning the girls drew up a petition, which was signed by twenty five or more of them, asking that they be paid at once and threatening to quit work if their request was not complied with. Pending the action of the company they did not work. Yesterday they were all paid off and discharged. The officers of the company state that they only discharged two of the girls, but the girls themselves say that they were all discharged.

THOSE PAY CAR ROBBERS

Turn Out to Be Only Honest Working Men Riding Home.

Detective Pat Mulligan has unearthed the mystery of the supposed attempt to hold up the Iron Mountain pay car a few days ago. Jack Lally, James Wiedenkeller and Peter Kerrigan are charged with the attempt. Lally, Wiedenkeller and Kerrigan are employed at the Dock Yards in Carondelet, and are in the habit of riding to and from their work on any passenger train that is convenient. They got on the pay car thinking it was an ordinary passenger train. When the car did not stop at the docks they pulled the bell-cord and when the train slowed up they got off and went to their work. They are honest, industrious men, and when Chief Harrigan heard their story he ordered them released.

THROWN OUT OF COURT.

Land Sale Contract Suit of Frankel and Barclay Against Miller.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 22.—The suit of Gothold Frankel of New York and John A. Barclay of London against Henry Miller to enforce a contract for the sale of $2,000,000 worth of land belonging to Miller and Luxto, the plaintiffs, has been thrown out of court because no fees had been paid, and no instructions as to whom to serve had been given. Miller gave an option on the land, but when Frankel and Barclay wanted to purchase, he refused to sell. The land in question comprises 100,000 acres in the vicinity of Bakersfield.

The Animals Injured by an Electric Car Not Yet Shot.

Three of the cows injured by being run down on Virginia avenue near Bates street, Carondelet, Tuesday morning before daylight by an electric car on the Scullin line, have been left to suffer since the accident. The cows are fatally injured, that is their legs are broken and they should have been shot immediately. The police were powerless to kill them, however, without instructions from the officers of the Humane Society. Henry Emmenegger, the owner of the cows, refused to instruct the police to shoot them, as it might interfere with his getting damages from the railroad company, and the railroad people were unwilling to give such order, for fear it should be construed by the court as an acknowledgment that they were responsible for the accident. The people of the neighborhood are very indignant that the poor animals should be allowed to remain in their misery so long and blame the Humane Society for neglect of duty.

THE IRON TRADE.

Business on a Safer Basis and Rather More Buying.

CLEVELAND, O., March 22.—The situation in iron and steel in a nutshell is this: In the Central West the volume of business is fully maintained and is, perhaps, slowly increasing; in the South there is a moderate movement of pig-iron in small lots at lower prices; in the East, the lowest prices prevail, yet there is no perceptible increase in demand and further curtailment of the orders of the local mills by favoring freights on east-bound material.

While there is no certainty as to the life of the reductions, the iron trade looks upon them as paving the way for more permanent reductions, though it is not to be expected that the rates which are to follow the temporary schedules will be as low as the latter.

The starting of the works of the Illinois Steel Co. is the chief sign of improvement in the Western situation. All along the line business appears to be done on a safer basis and there is rather more cash buying.

OHIO JOURNALISTS.

Arrangements for the Reception of the Buckeye State Delegation.

The Columbus (O.) newspaper men, who are to visit this city, will be well taken care of during their stay. Yesterday representatives of the St. Louis newspapers met at the Laclede Hotel to make arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors. The party will be accompanied by a number of Buckey State officials, prominent among whom will be James Boyle, an ex-St. Louis journalist, who has a host of warm friends in this city. Mr. Boyle is Secretary to Gov. McKinley and the probable successor to Mr. Thurber. They will arrive over the Baltimore & Ohio road on Saturday morning and will breakfast at the Laclede Hotel. In the afternoon they will drive around the city, visiting all points of interest, escorted by the Local Committee. Acting Mayor Nagel will welcome them at the Merchants' Exchange. After dining at the Mercantile Club they will by special invitation of Mr. Goodwin's press agent, witness a performance of "In Mizzoura."

The following local newspaper men will act as Reception Committee: Joseph Graham, C. R. Webb and H. B. Wandell of the Republic; F. D. White and D. H. Robert of the POST-DISPATCH; George A. Shives and W. H. Little of the Chronicle; John Magner, George E. Garrett and M. J. Lowenstein of the Star-Sayings; Tobias Mitchell and Frank J. Price of the Globe-Democrat; W. M. Ready of the Mirror; C. J. Macauley of the United Press; C. J. Osborne of the Associated Press; Goodman King, James Cox, W. F. Saunders, Maj. Emery Foster and Carl Unger. George H. Morgan, Secretary of the Merchants' Exchange, will also be a member of the committee.

The Killing Justifiable.

Temple Brock, who shot and killed Wm. Whipple, alias Charles Smith, Sunday night at 708 Gratiot street, was released from custody last night on the verdict of the Coroner's Jury that the homicide was justifiable. The testimony revealed that Whipple had frequently threatened the lives of Brock and of his sister, with whom Whipple had been living. Last Sunday Whipple left the house, promising to return and shoot the Brocks. He did return and shot through the keyhole, at which Brock shot him.

A Plucky Girl.

OLD LYME, Conn., March 21.—Sadie Barclay, an 18-year-old girl, with one arm in a sling and the other on the tiller, sailed the 10-ton sloop Marion over the bar here with her injured father lying helpless below. They had started out together from Three Mile Harbor, Long Island, at 4 o'clock in the morning with a cargo of clams. A squall came up and both the father and girl were knocked to the deck by the boom. The plucky daughter got her father into the cabin and, with one arm broken, steered the vessel on the way to its destination.

She might have turned back more easily, but, as she expressed it, "they'd started out to sell those clams, and she wasn't going to quit till she did." She sold them all.

TARANTULAS will continue to come in on the free list with bananas.

SENATORIAL courtesy allows a Senator whatever tips he may be offered.

THE signing of the seigniorage bill wouldn't redeem the Administration from Olneyism.

THE worst commentary on the Senate revenue bill is the commendation of it by Brice and Gorman.

TOM REED'S "omnivorous West" may be omnivorous because it has gone so long with a vacuum in its stomach.

THE honest Democrats of Missouri seem to be determined to stand by their convictions in May and November, too.

NO HONEST representative of Democratic sentiment in Missouri has expressed an opinion in favor of cuckoo harmony.

IF Congressman Breckinridge could somehow work in senatorial courtesy in law courts he would soon be at ease.

THE House should immediately proceed to knock out the Troy collars and cuffs rascality when the amended Wilson bill is returned.

DOES the cuckoo organ want the Missouri Senators to help smother the Boatner resolution in order to get some "offisses" for Democrats?

W. H. H. MILLER was not a good Attorney-General, but he did not furnish opposing counsel with arguments in cases involving the Government's interests.

SENATORS Gorman and Brice profess to be satisfied with the tariff bill as it stands. Certainly, after having McKinleyized the unfortunate measure, they ought to be satisfied.

"THERE is no gloom in the heart of William McKinley," says an Ohio paper. William evidently believes that Thomas Reed and Benjamin Harrison are no longer "in it."

THE fact that business revives when stocks get low would seem to indicate that protecting industries merely that there may be overproduction and stagnation, is poor economy.

IF there is any presidential bee buzzing in Senator Gorman's bonnet, the sooner he quiets that insect the better for his peace of mind. His name is not exactly Clay; it is Mud.

IT is said that Senator Chandler will not be returned to the Senate, a powerful railway company being opposed to him. It is interesting to know what makes Senators in enlightened New England.

MR. MOODY should let Senator Blackburn drop for a while and see if he can't get his hooks on Col. Breckinridge. The brilliant Kentuckian seems to be in sore need of spiritual regeneration.

"MCKINLEY is one kind of man; Grover Cleveland is another," says the Cleveland Leader. Just so. And how happy we might be with both the dear charmers away, say the Western Democrats.

THE Boatner resolution would be an excellent thing for the Missouri Democrats to indorse. It would imply censures of Olney and the Pacific Railroad ring and be a notice to the ringsters that the people are looking at them.

JULIUS CÆSAR'S declination of a crown was a small matter compared with Chauncey Depew's declination of Mr. Blaine's Cabinet job after the magnetic man had resigned. It is a shame that the railroads should absorb so great a man when his country is dragging along with a front wheel missing, as it were.

ALTHOUGH his resolution was voted down, Senator Peffer has not given up all hope of a thorough investigation of Senatorial speculation. He might do a little investigating on his own account and give the result to the public. There wouldn't be much "courtesy" in such a proceeding, but the country would appreciate the public service.

IT is a pitiful story, that story of how a wicked little school-girl led a poor, innocent Congressman of 47 years astray, and kept him astray for ten years, and made him do all sorts of silly and wicked things against his will. It would be hard to find a more pitiable object than Willie Breckinridge admitting, with painful embarrassment, that he was seduced into villainy and coaxed and frightened into false promises by a horrid young girl.

IT is difficult to see how Lord Rosebery can look for anything but disaster to his own political fortunes in a marriage with a daughter of the Prince of Wales. The union of Premier and Princess would not be relished by the Liberals of Great Britain. Labouchere and his Radical followers would undoubtedly rebel against a leader with a royal domestic cabinet. The marriage would probably mark the political eclipse of the new Democratic leader. It would be a pity for as able a man as Rosebery to become a mere matrimonial attachment to a royal family.

DEMOCRATIC DANGERS.

The general sentiment of the Democratic County Committeemen who were interviewed by the local cuckoo organ was boldly and forcibly expressed by the Hon. DeWitt C. Allen of Clay County, as follows:

> It appears to me that the most dangerous enemies the Democrats of Missouri have right now are the Populists. If the Republicans should stand back and indorse the nominations made by the Populists in the next big campaign in this State the Democrats would have a mighty hard fight on their hands and would be in danger of losing the State. The Democrats in the country who have lost their hope of seeing silver get a fair show are prone to go over into the Populist camp. Therefore, it would be a dangerous thing for the Kansas City convention to indorse the Cleveland Administration, for that course would in all probability drive many wavering Democrats over to the Populists.

But Mr. Allen does not state the whole truth. The cause of Democratic dissatisfaction is not limited to the silver policy of the President. The Administration is deep in the mire of the Pacific Railroad swindle by which the people of the United States are out $140,000,000. Olney is protecting the robbers in defiance of the mandates of Congress and in utter neglect of his duty and the interests of the people. He is the attorney and protector of the trusts and the Administration is standing by him.

No tardy tidbit flung to the silver Democrats can gloss over this monstrous scandal. If the Democratic organization of Missouri indorses Olneyism, with all the foul betrayal of public trust it involves, the Populist camp of the State will be filled with Democratic recruits.

SENATORS BY POPULAR ELECTION.

The presence of a man like Calvin Brice in the United States Senate emphasizes the necessity for the election of members of that body by the people. Under a system of popular elections with the Senator responsible directly to the people of his State, instead of its government, it is safe to say that Brice would never have disgraced by his presence the body honored by Webster, Clay, Benton and Calhoun.

To secure an election from a Legislature it is necessary first to get control of the State machine, which can usually be accomplished by "liberal and valuable services" to the party in a campaign. After that it is a matter of only a few venal members, enough of whom are to be found on all occasions to sell their honor and turn the scale in favor of the man with the most money. In States where private business has been the special care of the State Government for any length of time it is the rule to award the Senatorship to the highest bidder. In Pennsylvania, Ohio, California, Nevada, Rhode Island and several others the overshadowing power of great wealth is manifested in nearly every contest for a seat in the Senate. And so infectious is the evil that in States where money is not yet all powerful there is a growing feeling that only men of wealth can "afford" the honor.

Brice is the product of this condition and we have no right to complain if the man carries out his propose in going into politics, which is to get as much of the people's money as he he can under the sanction of laws which he helps to make. Indignation directed at the man is a waste of energy. He acts as he must, under a sort of compulsion of his own nature. The blame lies with the people who suffer such a nature to get the start of the community and use the license he has to plunder the commonwealth. As long as the present method of choosing Senators continues just so long will there be Brices in the Senate. When we make it impossible for any man to purchase a Senatorship we shall procure men for the position who have something other than money to recommend them.

Elections by the people will prevent most of this sort of corruption and raise the average of Senatorial morality and intellectual ability. A whole population cannot be bought, and in the main the ballot is pure. When the change is accomplished the Senate will recover its good character.

THE CANON AGAINST INTRIGUE.

About the only truth which Col. Breckinridge seems to have uttered in the whole course of the Pollard intrigue was his remark to the Washington Chief of Police: "This is one of the tragedies of life."

There is nothing so wretched in the death tragedy as in the life tragedy. The stroke of death is kind in comparison with the blast that wrecks life and ruins reputation. The loss of character, esteem and all that makes life worth living is a far profounder loss than that of life. The world has witnessed the climax of a moral tragedy in the little court-room at Washington of the most shocking kind. The episode of a woman's confession of shame and the fall of a man from the highest honor to the lowest contempt is the saddest in human experience.

But half the instructive significance of this miserable catastrophe will be lost if the publicity of the shameful story is regarded as the whole tragedy. That is merely the climax, the drawing aside of the cloak which reveals the ghastly actuality. The canon of all tragedy demands that there be a chain of circumstances which shall inevitably lead to the catastrophe. In moral tragedy the victim is himself the author of his misfortunes and weaves the chain of dishonorable circumstances which brings Nemesis.

The wretchedness of a moral horror like that of the Breckinridge-Pollard case flows from the dishonesty, the deceit, the treachery, the intricate and innumerable convolutions of hypocrisy which it involves. The essential vice of intrigue is the sacrifice of character, the murder of honor and honesty. The greatest of dramatic poets summed up the law against the villainy of intrigue when he wrote:

> The gods are just and of our pleasant vices
> Make instruments to plague us.

Two hundred newsboys on the down town treets are selling the Daily Post-Dispatch for 2 cents. Our patrons are requested to notify us of any attempt on part of newsboys to force them to pay more than 2 cents for the Post-Dispatch or to force them to buy with other papers "three for a nickel." THE AMENDED M'KINLEY LAW.

The Senate Finance Committee has submitted the new tariff measure, which should be called not the Wilson, but the amended McKinley bill. Duties are considerably reduced from the McKinley standard, but it is a high protection bill and the duties on the principal raw materials are retained with some reductions. The one feature of worth is the income tax. It is the Democratic leaven which may lead to a really Democratic measure in the future.

When the bill comes up for debate however this provision will be the principal if not the only object of attack. In the customs schedules the McKinley Democrats got about all they wanted from the committee and will probably allow the duties to go through without much more increase. But there will be a desperate fight to eliminate the income tax, the issue of which is very doubtful.

The question of most interest now is whether or not the Conference Committee will accept the amended bill and recommend it to the House. In conference the usual practice is to defer to the wishes of the Senate members and swallow any changes which may have been made by the wise "upper house." But in this case the changes are so radical, so opposed to the principle upon which the bill was framed, so contrary to the demand of the platform and the popular will that the House members may withstand the retained Senators and hold out for a Democratic law. In view of the long delay, however, it may be deemed a better policy from a party point of view to acquiesce in McKinleyism and hurry the bill to the President.

If the House yields to the Senate in this matter, the elections in November can hardly result otherwise than in Democratic defeat, and the only question will be whether the Republicans will have a majority in the next House or the Populists the balance of power, ready to co-operate with that one of the two other parties which will do most in the way of reform.

HUNGER does not promote wisdom, and it is, therefore, not surprising that Coxey's proposals are so foolish. He probably speaks the real sentiment of his ragged followers who have been taught for thirty years that the way to prosperity is not by the exercise of individual faculties, but comes only through the help of Government. They have heard this from every protected millionaire in the country until the doctrine has come to be a self-evident proposition to them. The rich paupers who have lived upon public bounty have only themselves to thank if the Massillon ragamuffins use the logic which has proved so profitable.

IF the Missouri Democrats want to indorse anything they should not forget to say a good word for the election of United States Senators by the people. Hitherto Missouri has been represented in the Upper House by honest men, but the corporation influences are very strong in the State and there is no telling when they will get a corner on senatorships and award the honor to their own men. It will be an ever present danger as long as the Legislature is allowed a free hand in the matter.

THERE is a thrill of new life in the drama since that eminent tragedian, James J. Corbett, has announced that as soon as he shall have put Peter Jackson to sleep he will abandon the prize ring, extend his repertory so as to include such plays as "Julius Cæsar," "Virginius," etc., and devote his whole energies to the demands of the stage. He expects to so enthrall his crowds that they shall forget the thumper in the actor, and maybe they will. No great actor ever started as a professional puncher of heads, but genius is more versatile now and we must recognize changed conditions. It is a little remarkable that actor Corbett should choose anything Shakspearean, for it is only a short time since that shining dramatic star, Mr. John L. Sullivan, declared Shakspeare to be "no good." Mr. Corbett, however, by throwing himself into a great Shakspearean part, may so conceal the Shakspeare in it that his audience will no longer recognize the author. Mr. Sullivan may not have made sufficient allowance for the genius of the actor.

TO ANYONE familiar with the enormous output of brick in St. Louis this, from the Chicago Herald, is highly amusing: "St. Louis is fairly squealing with pride and delight over the prospective establishment of a brickyard in that city. The product will probably be worn in the hats of the natives, thus encouraging a home industry." It is quite plain that there are some newspaper writers in Chicago who carry bricks in their hats, and that the bricks come from Peoria.

MR. HARKLESS is to address the Republican League on Saturday. It is likely, however, that Republicans are inclined to hark less at what Kansas City orators have to say than at "De Ole Man's" great tariff speech, of which they never tire. Perhaps "De Ole Man" will come in after Mr. Harkless has concluded.

MOUNT HOREB PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, in Fayette County, Ky., will probably have to acknowledge that Col. Breckinridge is one of its members, but it is scarcely likely that he will appear in its pulpit again after the regular sermon.

THE George Train of Chicago who offers 1,000 men for the Coxey army is not George Francis Train, who left the Windy in disgust after he had saved the Fair. The great Train has resolved to live in New York.

IT seems that ladies are permitted to see but not hear what is done in the Pollard-Breckinridge trial. The tyranny of man is far from being stamped out, great as has been the progress that has been made in curbing it.

WILLIAM WALDORF ASTOR was promptly admitted to the Carlton Club, while hundreds of native Englishmen had to wait. No doubt many an indignant Briton asked, "'O's this Hastor?"

IT is alleged that licking Columbian stamps brings on a disorder known as the Wanamaker tongue. Are there "microbats" in the Government mucilage?

THE worst storm of the winter is raging in Wyoming. It is to be hoped that no elections are going on there. The lady vote might be seriously reduced.

ADLAI STEVENSON was present at the test of Uncle Samuel's sixty-seven-ton gun, and he no doubt sighed for a boom like that of the monster.

THE New York woman who says it is her opinion that the wife should make the fire and let her husband sleep has been a widow four years.

WHEN the brass band meets Col. Breckinridge at Lexington he will doubtless feel that both himself and Adam have been vindicated.

THE Ferris Wheel is to go to New York if the hands of the Windy's incendiaries can be stayed long enough to get it shipped.

THE American woman with a crown would probably not desire to be regarded even as a diademocrat.

ALL Kentuckians regard their State as an Eden, but it is far from being Adamless.

A Flimsy Excuse.

From THE NEW YORK WORLD.

For the "Conservative" Senators, who have McKinleyized the Wilson bill the flimsy excuse is put forth that they did it in response to the clamor of their constituents. But what did these gentlemen expect? Did they suppose that the pampered children of protection would surrender their privileges without a protest and without an effort to preserve them?

These "Conservatives" are not novices in politics. Most of them are veterans and pride themselves on being "practical politicians." They knew while the campaign for tariff reform was being fought, just as well as they know now, that when the time came to frame a bill every trust, every combine and every favored industry would throng Washington with lobbyists and deluge it with petitions. A year ago they could have named the men who would be at the capital this winter shrieking that they will be ruined if tariff reform is carried out. They knew perfectly well then what claims would be urged and what arguments would be presented. The whole performance is staler than a thrice-told tale. To none is it staler than to these jaded old political hacks.

The excuse is preposterous. It impeaches the intelligence of those in whose behalf it is offered. When Senator Mills was asked by the wool-growers of Texas to oppose free wool he peremptorily said "No," and that was the end of it. When Tom Johnson was petitioned by his constituents to sustain high protection on glass, he not only refused, but read them a wholesome lesson in the economies of tariff reform. Honest men deal honestly with conditions they expect and invite. They don't shirk and then hunt excuses.

Gorman and His Constituents.

From the Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Baltimore News (Dem.) secured in a few days 2,000 Democratic signatures to a petition to the Maryland Senators asking them to vote for the Wilson bill in its original form. It withdraws it on account of Gorman's declaring that "no intimation coming from any quarter, no matter how high or low, of passing it just as it came here from the House of Representatives, will ever influence my action in this matter." The News says that "never has the political career of any public man in our State so richly deserved the condemnation of its people." Very true; and what are the Maryland Democrats going to do about it?

Balance of Trade Nonsense.

From the New York Evening Post.

The "balance of trade" in our favor for the past eight months of panic and distress is $218,000,000. Shades of Blaine and substance of McKinley, where is that balance? We know, for they have told us, that such balances are always "paid over," and in "gold." That some $200,000,000 was paid over is [illegible] McKinley asserted on his sacred honor, though how it slipped in and who had got it he firmly refused to say. Anyhow it was a great triumph of protection and a crowning proof of the prosperity of the country, showing how exceeding clever we had been to have sold the deluded foreigners $200,000,000 more than we had bought of them. But now it seems that hard times are even better than protection to bring about that blessed crippling of our purchasing power. To a mind like McKinley's this must be "suggestive of much," though to the ordinary mind its principal suggestion will be that the balance of trade is, as commonly understood, nothing but the balance of nonsense.

Unwise Conservatives.

From the Chicago Herald.

Those who favor the total extinction of the tariff even as a source of revenue will not be at all sorry to see the Wilson bill encumbered with enough McKinleyisms to damn it in the eyes of every man who detests McKinleyism as a whole. A half-way measure which might be accepted by the people as a finality for ten or twelve years, would be as discouraging to free traders as it would be pleasing to Carnegie and such other tariff beneficiaries as have eyes to see the tendency of public opinion. The Hills and Gormans and Brices and their associate McKinley Democrats are unconsciously doing more to hasten the day of absolute free trade than all the Tom Johnsons and Henry Georges in the land. If they were as wise protectionists as Carnegie they would not now be making war against their party and the Wilson bill.

About Horses' Tails.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

So the Legislature of Massachusetts has really passed a law compelling all persons who "dock horses" to cover them with fly netting during the months of June, July, August and September.

Every State should pass such a law. It is astonishing that the officers of the Humane Society in all the large cities do not have their Councils or State Legislatures to pass such a law.

How cruel and wrong is the docking of horses' tails; sawed off in such a manner that they can do nothing with them. Why the only defense a poor animal has during the fly season is his tail, which should be allowed to grow its full length without being clipped off to suit fashion's latest fad.

Those men that are sometimes arrested for driving lame animals are not committing half the crime our wealthy citizens are when allowing their fine stock to be shorn of their tail, or the best part of it; which certainly has been provided by the "ever ruling providence" for some good. The council should pass an ordinance punishing any and every one who docks horses, or impose a heavy penalty. If this law should be enforced, humanity and civilization will have advanced another step. HENRY FAIRBACK.

Cairo Booming.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Please give me the privilege of your Forum to say that there is a new life in these people. Old war horses are discarded, and the young business men are active; and Cairo is fast coming to the front as a great commercial factor. She is situated at the head of deep water navigation, and the junction of three States. I notice the spacious dining-room of the Halliday Hotel every day is filled with traveling salesmen. In conversing with them I find New York and Chicago has the great majority. Even at Wickliffe, opposite here, the future headquarters of the Lucas ocean steamers, they have bought lots, anticipating the future of that place as the great distributing point, as well as Cairo, for Central and South America. You can stand in front of the Halliday Hotel and hear the iron horse in Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri. Looking across from here to Wickliffe there is a sheet of water that could float the whole United States navy filled with steamers in transit from one State to the other. At night it is a grand panorama.

MILLER GETS HERE.

The Browns' Prospective Captain Arrives This Morning.

IN GOOD CONDITION AND GLAD TO COME TO ST. LOUIS.

J. J. Grant Talks About Mr. Theodore Winters' Colt, Rey Del Sierras—Tanner, Alias Golden Gate, Rung In at East Side—Frisco Shooting Festival—Local Sporting News.

George Miller, the famous all-round player, and former captain of the Pittsburg club, arrived this morning. He at once repaired to New Sportsman's Park and reported to President Von der Ahe. "Well, Miller," said Chris, "I have secured you from the Pittsburg Club to captain and generally handle the St. Louis Browns, and you will be given every possible encouragement and assistance in your work."

"I want to show the public that I can play just as good ball as I ever did, and I'll do my best to hustle for the Browns," said Miller.

After seeing Mr. von der Ahe and meeting the different players of the club, Miller came down town and called at the POST-DISPATCH office.

He is looking better than he ever did. He is greatly reduced in weight, his eye is clear and he looks fresh and active. He stated that he was glad to come to St. Louis, where he has always been royally treated by the people. Miller said that from the day that the matter of his proposed transfer to St. Louis was suggested, he has in every way encouraged it, and feels thankful that he is to be here with the Browns.

The people of Harrisburg gave him a rousing send off on the eve of his departure for St. Louis, the whole town turning out to make him feel that he was appreciated by his fellow townsmen.

Miller stopped over in Pittsburg yesterday and his friends greeted him warmly and gave him a big reception.

Miller is 5 feet 5½ inches tall and weighs 162 pounds. He has a voice, however, that can outweigh any vocal organ in the League, and he has honestly earned the sobriquet of "Calliope."

Pitcher Carsey in the City.

Wilfred Carsey, the noted young pitcher of the Philadelphia club, arrived in the city this morning enroute home from Frisco, where he has been playing with the Boston combination. Carsey says his winter trip benefitted him greatly. He is looking well.

The Pittsburg Club opens the championship season here April 19. George Miller will not be in his glory during that series, pulling and tugging against his own club. Chris Von der Ahe had a level head on him when he got the Pittsburgs to open here, knowing Miller would captain the Browns.

Base Ball Gossip.

Brodie and Joe Kelly have signed with the Baltimores.

Jim O'Rourke considers the purchase of Meekin and Farrell to be as clever a piece of work as the New York management ever did. He pronounces Farrell as good a catcher as Ewing in his palmy days, and a player who enjoys hard work, and is one team of the pleasantest of men to get along with.

It is quite surprising, and at the same time very funny, to read in the Yale news that Joe Quinn, who was with the Brown University nine last year, will play as a professional this season with the St. Louis says a Boston exchange.

Mike Kelly seems to be gathering quite a collection of the old league players into his Allentown team, and Pres. Powers of the Eastern League has been trying to induce the directors of that club to join the league which he is at the head of.

REY DEL SIERRAS,

Theodore Winter's Manager Enthusiastic Over the Colt—An East Side Ringer.

J. J. Grant, racing manager for Mr. Theodore Winters, the millionaire Nevada turfman and breeder, arrived in St. Louis last night from DuQuoin, Ill., where his employer's horses, including the much-discussed 2-year-old son of Marian, Rey del Sierras (King of the Hills), are being prepared for the coming season by Trainer Jerry Gaugh. The string consists of some fourteen heads, including eleven 2-year-olds. Rey del Sierras is entered in the rich futurity and all the rest of the big stakes on the Eastern circuit, to be decided after the Washington Park meeting. The stable will go to Hawthorne April 15 and race there until the opening of the Fair Grounds meeting. Trainer Gaugh is not hurrying Rey del Sierras in his work and the colt will, in all probability, face a starter for the first time at the Fair Grounds. When he was a suckling, Mr. Winters refused $40,000 for this son of Marian. After his racing days are over, Rey del Sierras will be used as a stallion at Mr. Winters' Nevada stud. Speaking of the colt last night Manager Grant said: "He is as big and fully developed as any aged horse in training that I have ever seen and I do not believe there ever was a grander looking 2-year-old in the world. My statement may seem extravagant, but the colt is actually enormous, weighing between 1,100 and 1,200 pounds, and is beautiful in conformation. He is the very image of his wonderful half-brother, El Rio Rey, by Norfolk, having the same bald face and four white stockings. The pair also seem to resemble one another greatly in their dispositions, and if Rey del Sierras only shows the speed of his illustrious relative no one can deny that we will have a world-beater. Trainer Gough has done nothing with the colt yet beyond galloping him on the country roads, near DuQuoin, which are excellent for that purpose. He is such a valuable colt that we don't want to take any chances working him too soon. Gaugh intends to wait until the warm weather rolls round and frost has disappeared from the ground before speeding him. Besides Rey Del Sierras we have ten other 2-year-olds in our stable, the most promising of which are a Joe Hooker—Bonita colt called Morgan G. and an own sister to Dollie McCone by Joe Hooker—Lou Spencer."

While at Hot Springs recently Phil Dwyer told Judge Burke an interesting story about how he and his brother secured possession of that wonderful race horse Luke Blackburn. "I had seen his owner, Jim Williams, trying to 'place' him; that is, he would start two in a race, Luke and another, and try to win with the other. Luke was such a rank colt that it was torture to him to pull him back, yet Williams kept running him that way. One day, toward the fall at Brighton Beach, there was a stake run there in which we started Quito and Elias Lawrence. It was run in the twilight. One horse was nearly left at the post, but ran through the bunch and won in a gallop. It was Luke Blackburn. That settled it and I bought him. That year I sent our stable to Nashville to winter. The Cumberland River overflowed and we had to get away from the track in a flat boat.

"We took the horses to Louisville, but came back and ran at the Nashville spring meeting. Luke Blackburn was not doing well, and we couldn't work him enough. But he started in a stake at Lexington and, to my surprise, ran a great race under the circumstances. The race was won by Fonso. When Blackburn got to his real form after that I was most anxious to again meet Fonso, but didn't get a chance. I was satisfied Luke could beat him a block. The late Thomas J. Nichols had a colt engaged in one of the fall stakes—I think it was the American stallion stake. Meeting me one morning that fall (after Luke had gone through his 3-year-old form), he said: 'They tell me you've got a great horse, Mr. Dwyer.' 'You can see for yourself any morning you want to come out and see him work,' was my answer. 'What would be good work for a 3-year-old for this race?' 'About 2:40 for the mile and a half.' 'Very well,' was my reply, 'and we will see what Luke can do it in.' McLaughlin was up and he must have weighed about 120 pounds. The colt went off swinging his head from side to side. Jimmy had all he could do to pull him to a slow pace. He finished the work as he began it—his head swinging from side to side—in 2:37½. Mr. Nichols was convinced then what a colt Blackburn was. There were only two starters for the stake and Luke won it away off, but he came back to the judges' stand on three legs. How he went lame I never knew."

It has always been an open question as to which of the two, Hindoo or Luke Blackburn, was the better horse. Naturally Mr. Dwyer was asked that question. He could give no decided answer, but seemed to think that Hindoo was the greater horse, because he could be placed in any part of a race, was not so rank a goer, and could be depended on to finish strongly.

This badly-managed attempt to form a national jockey club calls forcible attention to the institution whose methods it was proposed to adopt. The English Jockey Club is, perhaps, the most remarkable organization of the present day. Self-elected and without the slightest legal formality, it wields, through a council of three "stewards," absolute authority over all matters pertaining to the English turf. It acts as a tribunal, civil and criminal, with decisions final, and its authority is acknowledged and respected by kindred bodies throughout the world. At the present time the English Jockey Club numbers about 100 members, consisting of kings, lords and commoners. It makes itself felt through its three acting members—the stewards—to whom, for all practical purposes, its powers are relegated. During the three year term of office, to which they are nominated by their predecessors, the stewards form a tribunal before which all question in connection with the English turf are brought and investigated. They address all those interested in English racing through their official mouthpiece, the Calendar, their power is paramount over all race tracks in England, and there is practically no appeal from their decisions.

George Bell's Golden Gate, who is thought to be none other than the notorious Brannon Bros.' famous ringer, Tanner, alias Polk Badget, alias Little Dan, alias Twilight, won the third race at East St. Louis yesterday and was backed to win thousands in the outside pool rooms, especially at Covington, Louisville and Lexington. At the track an unknown bet enough in small quantities to force the alleged Golden Gate's price down from 80 and 40 to 10 to 1, at which figure he went to the post. In the Covington rooms he was backed off the boards. After winning by a nose from Granite, it was discovered Golden Gate was a bleached bay. He was entered as an aged chestnut gelding, by Joe Hookey, dam unknown, but Willie Delong, whose father sold Tanney to the Brannans, says this horse is none other than the famous ringer. His testimony was corroborated by numerous other turf followers who know the original Tanner. Judge Carter disqualified Golden Gate, placing Granite first, and ordered bets to go with his decision. This will result in the manipulators of the job losing all the money they bet on the alleged Golden Gate. Judge Carter thinks this is a better way to stop ringing jobs on the turf than by ruling off myths and declaring all bets off, which enables the thieves to get their money back when caught.

'FRISCO SHOOTING TOURNEY.

No Records Broken at the Shell Mound Festivities Yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 22.—There was a large crowd in attendance at the Shell Mound shooting festivities yesterday, and although no records were broken, on the whole the shooting was good.

The day was notable on account of the presence of the visiting marksmen. A. McBean, the left-handed Chicago marksman, made four reds in succession on a Golden Gate target. His score was equal to J. Singer of Los Angeles, and second to W. J. Coster of Chicago, who made the "high" of the day on the ring target, his score being 92. B. McBean and Singer scored 86 on the point target. M. Rosenthal made the best score, which was 14.

H. Stelling's score of 70 on the Midwinter Fair target was the "high" of the day, and W. H. Riley made the best record on the one man target, his score being 89.

President Robert requests all the clubs to be represented at to-night's meeting.

SIMON PURE AMATEURISM.

The National Association of Amateur Oarsmen Strictly Legitimate.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The National Association of Amateur Oarsmen probably has more backbone and more authority in the sport over which it assumes control than any of the other amateur organizations which govern or pretend to govern has over its respective line. As a case in point is the rule of the N. A. A. O. which prohibits an oarsman from representing in competition a club located further than fifty miles from that oarsman's residence.

Take a man like George Gray of the New York Athletic Club, for instance. He lives in Canada and is the champion shot-putter. Yet, according to the laws of the A. A. U., he can come to New York and win honors for the local organization although not living in the United States. The N. A. A. O. does not permit that sort of thing. Strange to say, it fails to see the fairness of a man representing a club when he lives several hundred miles away. The N. A. A. O. has just completed arrangements with the Amateur Rowing Association of London and the Union des Societes des Francais de Sports Athletiques, whereby the associations agree to protect each other in their efforts to keep the sport clean.

Sporting Notes.

Charley Mitchell, the pugilist, has appealed to the court to restrain a New York publishing house from printing a book in which his picture appears, together with an article alleged to be written by him. Mitchell says he is going to write a book himself.

The wrestling championships of the Central Association of the Amateur Athletic Union will be held at the Chicago Athletic Club Saturday night. The entry list includes the crack men in Chicago, three of Milwaukee's best representatives and M. J. Reilly of the Michigan Athletic Association, who is competing in the national championships in New York.

Feast of Purim.

The feast of Purim was observed yesterday at the United Hebrew Temple, the B'nai El Temple and by all the orthodox Jewish congregations in the city. The feast of Esther was also observed by total abstinence from food of any kind during the day. At the B'nai El Synagogue last night a collection was taken up for the Alliance—Israelite-Universelle—the headquarters of which are in Paris. To-night the Ladies' Aid Society of the United Hebrew congregation will give a grand Purim ball at the Liederkranz Hall. The children of Temple Shaare Emeth will have a Purim festival at the Harmonie Club to-night.

Run Down by a Bicyclist.

Annie Benges, 7 years old, living with her parents at 2502 North Broadway, was crossing the street in front of her residence last evening, when some unknown man riding a bicycle ran against the child, knocking her down, and inflicting a scalp wound on the left side of the head. She was carried home and cared for.

CLEVER SWINDLERS

The Southern Pacific Railway Defrauded of a Large Amount.

RAILROAD CLERKS AND TICKET BROKERS ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

The Scheme Operated From the Offices at San Francisco—Canceled Tickets Repunched and Sold to Scalpers, Who in Turn Disposed of Them to Passengers—Criminal News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 22.—A clever scheme to swindle the Southern Pacific by the reissue of punched railroad tickets has been unearthed and R. A. Whiteside and J. A. Andrews, clerks in the company's office in this city, and A. B. Greenwald and M. Greenwald, ticket brokers, have been arrested for forgery.

When the conductors on the Southern Pacific turned over their punched tickets from Portland to San Francisco to these two clerks it was their practice to take them, repunch them to another point, say Los Angeles, and repunch also the date, say January to April, and sell them to the scalpers.

The work was very skillfully done, and the tickets, when presented by passengers who had purchased them from the scalpers, were accepted without question by conductors. The swindle had been going on for some time and the profits of the conspirators were quite large.

Mrs. Rudiger's Trial.

OMAHA, Neb., March 22.—The Rudiger murder case went to the jury last night. The testimony of the defense closed with that of the defendant, Mrs. Rudiger, who told how she killed Baron Henry Reiser. She said:

"I met Reiser on the street and asked him to go to my husband and explain how all the trouble arose, who was to blame, he or I. I asked him what he was going to do. He stamped his foot at me and asked me if I would do what he asked me to do. He put his hand on his pocket and said he had six bullets and would let me have all of them. He had pushed me in the street, and when I dropped my revolver he had picked it up, counting the bullets and saying he could go me one better. He asked me what I had it for and I said myself. He swore at me, returning my pistol, and told me to go home. When he put his hand in his hip pocket I threw up my left hand and fired with my right hand without looking. I do not remember of firing more than two shots. The next I remember someone was picking me up from the sidewalk. Four times previously Reiser had threatened to shoot me."

Judge Scott was on the point of adjourning court because the defendant broke down frequently while giving her testimony.

The Little Murder Trial.

OLATHE, Kan., March 22.—The deposition of J. H. Dukehart, read in the Banker Little Murder trial yesterday was to the effect that just before lawyer Johnson was shot he had said: "I'll kill the wretch on sight."

The defendant Little testified that he armed himself because he was to carry back to Guthrie on the day of the shooting $20,000 to be secured from a Kansas City bank. He had met Johnson in the morning and had saluted him in the usual way, but Johnson had called him a vile name. The next time he saw Johnson the latter was standing with some friends in front of a drug store. He drew his revolver as Little approached, and shouted: "You have been hounding me all day. I'll not stand it any longer." Thereupon the witness and defendant shot Johnson and he fell in the gutter.

Asa G. Gurney Acquitted.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 22.—Asa G. Gurney, charged with the embezzlement of $22,500 from the American Express Co., was acquitted by the jury last evening. The principal evidence against Gurney was a thumb mark on a seal that had been tampered with. Expert A. Carvallio of New York stated that the impression was identical with that of Gurney's thumb. The charge was that Gurney had taken $22,500 out of a package of $50,000 in transit between St. Louis and the Whitney Bank.

Fatal Shooting Affray.

EUTAW, Ala., March 22.—Sheriff E. T. Henagan of Greene County yesterday afternoon attempted to arrest two strangers known as Russell and Reid on the street for a safe robbery in this place. They drew their revolvers and at the end of the fight they were dead and the Sheriff was dying, expiring before the train on which he was placed reached Epes, his home. Ten or twelve shots were exchanged.

The Only McNichol.

We look back on our truest friend
When life looks hard and drear,
When budding hopes come to an end
His whispers linger near.
But early friends depart, the way
That all such blessings go;
At last we rise to meet a day
When blessings come too slow!

You ask your friend or brother, now,
For help when times are bad—
They'll tell you that they can't, somehow,
They've lost the rick they had.
You cannot turn to strangers yet,
They're not your sort of man;
And then you're lifted out of debt
By just McNichol's plan!

You need a home! a sacred spot
Where you can be at peace;
It has not been your happy lot
To see your cash increase,
But you have heard of one to seek
Who helps the struggling man!
Who lets you pay him by the week,
A new and generous plan!

McNichol! He's the one, I've heard,
Will help all those who roam;
You've only got to keep your word,
And he'll give all a home!
The smallest weekly payment down,
For goods of newest make;
He does the business in this town
For wives' and children's sake.

You are right there, my boy! Nobody leads but the one and only

GEN. COXEY'S ARMY.

Senator Kyle Believes the Demonstration Will Have an Effect for Good.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—"I can hardly see," said Senator Kyle, Chairman of Senate Committee on Education and Labor, "why Senator Peffer should have had Gen. Coxey's bills referred to my committee, but I shall examine them and see what can be done about them.

"Do I think the army will come to Washington?" he continued. "Most assuredly I do, and I expect to look out of my committee room window on May Day and see the assembled multitude. There are large numbers, according to the announced programme. I should not wonder if there should be 50,000 of them instead of 10,000, and I for one believe that if tramps and vagabonds can be kept out of the procession and a respectable lot of men gathered together, as I think will be the case, the demonstration will have a wholesome effect. It is intended to be a protest against the issuance of bonds, and whatever Wall street may think on the subject, I tell you the country is almost solid in this sentiment against bonds. What impression the demonstration will make on Congress I cannot say, but if it is properly conducted it cannot fail to impress the country at large and have a future if not an immediate effect."

The Senator expressed the opinion that the Governor of Pennsylvania could not legally take any steps to prevent the army passing through that State.

PREPARING FOR THE CRUSADE.

MASSILLON, O., March 22.—Coxey and his aids are busy to-day preparing for the march to Washington, which is billed for Sunday, at the head of the industrial army. The reports that the sheriffs of Ohio and Pennsylvania are making arrangements to meet the horde with force if necessary, have set the two States by the ears. Excursion trains will run here Sunday from all points of Ohio, and it is expected that 2,000 or 3,000 at least will be in line when the column moves.

There will be no military discipline observed until the marchers are organized at Reedurban if such a thing is possible. The 8th Regiment of the State has tacit instructions to hold itself in readiness. Lieut. Browne says the army will camp around Washington until the good roads and non-interest bearing bond bills are passed by Congress. He thought the forces that would gather about the Capitol would number many hundreds of thousands of people. "We will besiege Washington as Grant did Richmond. Our food will come from people who are in sympathy with the commonweal movement. If certain things come to pass as I believe they will, the army will move South."

Coxey is one of Massillon's most successful business men, and those who have business relations with him can't comprehend how he got this crusade idea into his head. His commercial standing is still first-class despite his vagaries. In his business ventures he has acquired some distinction among horsemen by securing possession of the celebrated Dixiana stud farm in Kentucky, and through his negotiations for the purchase of the great stallion Acolyte from Col. James E. Pepper, the whisky man. He was originally a Greenbacker, but of late years has become imbued with Populistic theories of government and political economy.

INDUSTRIAL ARMY AT TUCSON.

TUCSON, Ariz., March 22.—The industrial army, 700 strong, arrived here yesterday and left to-day. The men were given all they wanted to eat by the city. They are orderly and the reports to the effect that they have been pilfering at different points along the road in Arizona are believed here to be without foundation.

THE WILLBANKS RECONCILIATION.

The Divorce Colony at Sioux Falls Loses a Leading Member.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 22.—The divorce colony here is to lose a leading member in Mrs. Willbanks. Her husband, Col. Willbanks, a leading Galveston (Tex.) lawyer, has persuaded her to abandon her suit and return with him. Willbanks was for one day Secretary of State for the Territory of Dakota, but resigned to become Superintendent of the Chicago Post-office. He has a large legal practice at Galveston.

Mrs. Willbanks arose one morning, saying she would bring her husband a cup of coffee. Before he arose she took the train for Sioux Falls. Upon finding her here the Colonel said:

"Well, I have come for that cup of coffee."

Reconciliation speedily followed. Willbanks is said to be an accomplished hypnotist.

EXPLODED IN A CHURCH.

Twenty Persons Injured By the Bursting of a Dynamite Bomb.

GRENOBLE, France, March 22.—A bomb was exploded yesterday afternoon in the Church of Galliu, near this city. The explosion injured twenty persons, three of whom may die. The explosion caused a panic in the church, during which a number of the people were injured by being tramped under foot.

No arrests had been made at a late hour last night.

GURNEY ACQUITTED.

His Evidence of Innocence Stronger Than Thumb Prints.

The local officers of the American Express Co. have received notice that the jury in the case of A. G. Gurney, who was charged with embezzling $22,500 from a money package of the American Express Co., by whom he was employed, returned a verdict of not guilty, after remaining out only three hours. It was expected that the jury would take some time to consider the case, not because the defense was lacking in clearness, but because of the novelty of the theory of the prosecution.

Gurney was clerk in charge of the money department of the express company last November when a package supposed to contain $50,000 for the Whitney Bank arrived. Next morning when he turned it over only $27,500 was found. He claimed that the package had been tampered with on the way from St. Louis and was broken when he received it. The company after several days arrested Gurney, kept him in secret imprisonment for several days and then preferred charges against him. The story of the company was that the package was good when it reached Gurney's hands, but that he had broken it and then resealed it, using his thumb to make one of the seals. Its expert said that this thumb impression was identical with Gurney's thumb. Beyond this circumstance there was little evidence to hold Gurney.

He was, however, indicted and brought to trial. Experts went from New York and testified that a thumb print on the broken seal of the envelope was identical with the thumb print of Mr. Gurney. This is the first time that the thumb print has been presented in evidence in a trial in America, but the jury was not influenced by it. Mr. Gurney showed that he received the package in the presence of other clerks and opened it in their presence. The money was apparently missing then, so the package was locked in the vault and counted next morning, and then the discrepancy was found. Mr. Gurney's evidence made these facts so clear that the thumb-print testimony had no effect. Mr. Gurney had been so long with the company and had always been such a competent and faithful financial man that the company would not for a long time entertain an idea that he could be in any way involved and only consented to prosecute on the statement of the experts that the thumb print was conclusive, but as against the clear evidence of the defense it failed entirely to cause even a doubt in the mind of the jury.

A Dead Animal Hauled Inside the City Limits—Carondelet News.

A dead animal on Ivory avenue, within the city limits, has greatly offended the residents of that section, and the sanitary officers have been severely criticised by them. The police state, however, that it is not due to the neglect of the sanitary company and that the animal has not been there long enough to reach its present state of decomposition, but that it was brought into the city by the residents of Luxemburg, that they might avoid the trouble and expense of cremating it. This practice is likely to lead to trouble between the authorities of Carondelet and Luxemburg.

The Carondelet Park Lake Committee met last night at the office of F. W. Mott & Co. and decided on plans for the Carondelet Park lake which will give them a lake 800x300 feet. The site of the proposed lake is 600 feet west of the Pagoda, and has many natural advantages. The estimated cost of the lake is between $3,000 and $3,500. The committee will wait upon Park Commissioner Fechter and the Board of Public Improvements some time this week, and as soon as their plans are approved will commence collecting the money to carry on the work.

Charles Schaber, 411 O'Reilly avenue, was struck on the head by a leaning telegraph pole while driving an express wagon on South Broadway. He was painfully injured and had to be carried to Dr. Starkloff's office for treatment.

Richard Leunbach was arrested and locked up in the First District Police Station yesterday afternoon, charged with fast driving. The team he was driving was owned by Klem White of 411 Duchouquette street and was turned over to him.

A fire broke out in the cellar of George Gebbard's saloon, 7830 Ivory avenue, last night, and damaged the stock to the extent of $25.

HE WAS A CASHIER

And His Ex-Employers Charge Him With Embezzling $300.

WARRANT ISSUED THIS MORNING AGAINST EDWARD D. WILLIAMS.

The Accusation Made by the Day Rubber Co., for Whom He Formerly Worked—Not Known to Have Any Bad Habits—Aaron Ward Charged With Robbing His Benefactor.

A warrant for embezzlement was issued this morning against Edward D. Williams of 2707 Clark avenue on the application of Asa W. Day, President of the Day Rubber Co., 415 North Fourth street. The warrant charges the embezzlement of $300 on and prior to Jan. 4.

Williams is a young man, not over 24 years of age, and had been in the employ of the company about four years. The last position he occupied was that of cashier and head bookkeeper. He was implicitly trusted by his employers until the latter part of last December, when an investigation of his books was made. Mr. Day claims it was then discovered that for some time back he had been making false entries in the petty cash book and pocketing small sums.

In January he was discharged on account of his peculations. Mr. Day says he did not feel disposed to prosecute him until he discovered recently that at the very time the investigation was going on the man was still stealing. This decided the matter, and the warrant was sworn out.

"I was sorry to take this step," said Mr. Day, "but after the young man had shown himself so regardless of sincerity and honesty, I felt I owed it to my other employes."

Since his discharge from the Day company, Williams has been working for the Columbia Rubber Co., Seventh and Market streets, where he took orders on commission. His reputation was of the best there. It is not known what could impel him to take the money, as he is said to have been a young man of excellent habits. He was unmarried.

Fought for a Hat.

Sam Osborne was passing along Market street between Fourth and Fifth streets last night at 11:30 o'clock, and having lost his hat, started out to look for another. John Rankin, who was walking down the street, neared Osborne and Osborne grabbed Rankin's hat, and the latter grabbed Osborne. While the two were wrestling for possession of the hat, a crowd of boot-blacks who were standing near, selected Rankin as the man who was the aggressor, when it is said he simply tried to secure his own hat. They pounced on Rankin and used their brush boxes with bloody results on the unfortunate Rankin's head. Officer Danaher of the Second District happened along and while the boot-blacks ran away the officer took Osborne and Rankin into custody. Rankin had to get his head dressed at the City Dispensary When they were tried to-day before Judge Morris both were discharged on the evidence.

Robbed His Benefactor.

Aaron Ward, a rather good-looking young man about 18 years old, was sentenced to thirty days in the Work-house by Judge Claiborne this morning for stealing 25 cents from Charles Sherman of 2054½ South Broadway. It was not the amount of the theft that made the theft an aggravated one, but Mr. Sherman said he had been the young man's benefactor, had given him a home, employment and a chance to get up in the world, but he had been missing various small sums of money for some time, and had suspected everybody but Ward. He finally trapped the thief with a marked quarter.

Drew a Big Gun.

George Moss, a negro youth, got into a dispute with L. Ackerman, a rag-picker, on the Iron Mountain tracks, near Lesperance street, yesterday, and Ackerman attempted, it is said, to chastise the boy. Moss fooled the rag-picker, however, and drawing a huge revolver pointed it at Ackerman. The latter fled in search of something behind which to conceal himself, and during the chase a police officer appeared on the scene and took Moss into custody. Judge Morris passed on the case to-day and fined Moss $20 for carrying concealed weapons.

Brothers in Court.

William and James Brennan, two brothers, who live at 220 Carroll street, were defendants on cross charges of disturbing the peace in Judge Morris' court to-day. The brothers got into a fight on March 21 last because William was tantalizing his sister Annie. They had a fight and Officer Herr of the Second District arrested them. Judge Morris heard the evidence and, after fining William $25, he discharged James.

Attempted Criminal Assault Charged.

A warrant charging attempted criminal assault was issued to-day against Charles H. Williams, alias Isaac Smith, the negro who is alleged to have attempted last Monday to assault Mabel Holland, a 7-year-old colored girl, living with her parents in the rear of 2214 Franklin avenue. Williams was arrested yesterday.

LET GALLAGHER STAY.

Charity Commissioner Jones Favors Dropping the Fight Against Him.

The signal victory achieved by Supt. Gallagher of the Poor-house over the Board of Charity Commissioners, by the recent decision of the Court of Appeals, has set the latter to thinking what steps, if any, should be taken by them in the case.

Mr. James C. Jones, one of the members of the board, who took an active part in the original proceedings which resulted in the removal of Gallagher, when asked this morning what the commissioners intended to do, said:

"I do not know, as I have not taken an active part in the affairs of the board for some time past."

"What do you think of the decision?"

"I take no stock in it. You cannot convince me that it was ever intended for the board to first prefer charges against an official and then try them. This idea of a man being the prosecutor and the judge at the same time may suit some officials, but it is not consistent with my ideas of justice or common sense."

"Will the board prefer charges?"

"It was the sense of the board some time ago that in the event the courts gave a decision favorable to Gallagher that formal charges would be preferred and another trial given him, but this idea may have been abandoned. For my part I think Gallagher has recently managed his institution in a very efficient manner and deserves to be let alone. I don't believe in crowding a man to the wall. I have no apology, however, to make for the part I took in the former proceedings. I think Gallagher had been guilty of acts at that time which justified his removal. Since he has been permitted to hold his position he has probably sufficiently atoned for his prior misdeeds and I believe in letting him rest in peace."

Mr. Simon S. Bass, President of the Board, when seen said that he had called a meeting of the members for Saturday afternoon, when some definite conclusion would be reached as to the course to be pursued. "I am quite willing to admit, in the light of the decision given by the Court of Appeals, that our proceedings were irregular and that formal charges should have been preferred."

"By the board?"

"Not necessarily. We had a number of witnesses to be examined and the affidavits of some of them could have been embodied in a series of charges without making it appear that the board was the accuser. I thought and said as much at the time, but that cuts no figure now."

"Do you think you will prefer formal charges?"

"The board will settle that at the meeting Saturday."

Supt. Gallagher has not been permitted to draw his salary since August, 1892, and the City Auditor says he can do nothing until the Board of Charity Commissioners has disposed of the case, which has been sent back to the Circuit Court by the Court of Appeals.

CALL HER A SPY.

Annie Beghines, the Brown Murder Witness, Annoyed by Neighbors.

Annie Boghines, the famous witness who testified for the State in the Brown murder trial, had Matilda Scott fined $5 in the Second District Police Court to-day for hitting her in the neck with a heavy stick. That Wells Station Saloon Squabble.

Nicholas D. Pandjaris, a saloon-keeper at 1634 Franklin avenue, swore out a warrant to-day against John Marcage of 806 North Seventeenth street, charging him with malicious destruction of property. Pandjaris owns another saloon at Wells Station in Wellston, St. Louis Co., on the St. Louis & Suburban Road, and alleges that Marcage went to the Wellston saloon yesterday and destroyed two signs. Marcage formerly owned a half interest in the saloon, which was sold out by a Constable, Pandjaris states, he buying it. Pandjaris swore out a warrant some days ago against Marcage, charging him with petit larceny. Marcage went to the saloon, Pandjaris alleged, and chased the barkeeper out and took about $7 from the cash drawer.

Morley was working on the top of a new building on the southwest corner of Ninth and Marion streets, and, losing his balance, fell to the ground, a distance of fifty feet. FENCED IN THE LOT.

John Ramsay Beaten for Fencing in a Lot Which No One Owned.

John Ramsay, residing at 4224 Vista avenue, claims to have been assaulted Tuesday night by Henry and Ben Christopher, brothers, who, it is alleged, were incensed at him because he fenced in a small piece of ground on the Manchester road, east of King's highway. According to Ramsay's story a survey of the adjoining property showed that the 25-foot lot which he fenced in was without an owner, and he was advised that he could take possession of and hold it. He posted a claim to the lot after fencing it Monday night, and on Tuesday, he alleges, the Christopher brothers threw down his sign board, and after breaking it assaulted him with the pieces, bruising his head about the right eye. At his request Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep issued warrants for his assailants. The latter have been arrested and will have a hearing next week.

Park Lake Work Checked by Last Night's Heavy Rain.

Owing to the heavy rain storm of last night work on the Park Lake could not be carried on this morning and nothing will be done during the day. The lake cut is so well drained now, however, that it is confidently expected that work will be resumed to-morrow morning, and the laborers have been notified to that effect. A few men were kept on to-day doing some additional draining work in the lowest parts of the cut. There is so little of this to be done that it will not keep the small squads busy longer than to-day. With more favorable weather the ground will be in condition to permit of the resumption of excavation to-morrow.

WOODS ANNOYED HER.

Persisted in His Attentions to Mrs. Kleemeier, a Young Widow.

The dismissal of the disturbance of the peace case against Edward E. Woods in Judge Paxson's court this morning has an interesting story back of it. Woods was charged with annoying Mrs. Alvina Kleemeier. Mrs. Kleemeier is a widow about 23 years of age. Six years ago, while living with her parents at Tenth and Warren streets, she married against their wishes and when her husband died about two years ago she did not think it advisable to return home. She went to live with Mrs. Woods, Edward E.'s mother, at their home on Thompson avenue near Grand. Woods, who is an express wagon driver, about 29 years of age, fell in love with her, it is said, and wanted to marry her. She did not look with favor on his suit, for while she liked him well enough, she did not think he was earning enough to support both his mother and a wife. So she left Mrs. Woods' house and went to board with Mr. and Mrs. McAllister, No. 904 Brooklyn street. There, it is alleged, Woods would insist on going to see her and annoying her with his attentions. On the evening of March 9 he met Mrs. Kleemeier and her younger sister on Tyler street between Broadway and Ninth street, and began to push his claim again. Mrs. Kleemeier fled to Broadway where she told Officer Borgeld. He went up Tyler street, finding Woods involved in a wordy war with Mrs. Kleemeier's sister and locked him up. He was bailed out, and when arraigned for trial next morning got a continuance. Then he got another continuance until to-day. In the meantime matters were evidently satisfactorily adjusted for Woods was discharged to-day for want of prosecution.

THERE is humor and pathos, laughter and tears in Nat C. Goodwin's new play by August Thomas, "In Mizzouri," now at the Grand Opera-house.

M'KANE'S HENCHMEN.

Constable Jamison and Justice Newton Found Guilty.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Constable Jamison of Gravesend was found guilty to-day of perjury committed in carrying out the programme of John Y. McKane at the election last November. The verdict was accompanied by a recommendation to mercy on account of Jamison's ignorance.

Justice Newton, another of the Gravesenders, pleaded guilty to the charge against him, complicity in election frauds, and was sentenced to ten months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $700. He started for Sing Sing immediately.

COLD WAVE TO-NIGHT.

Its Effects Are Already Visible Here—River Registrations.

The cold spell, which was anticipated last evening, was slightly perceptible this morning, and will be here in force to-night. The thermometer in the Weather Bureau registered 52 deg. at 7 o'clock this morning and had not risen a degree at noon. A fall as low as 30 degs. above zero is expected to-night and to-morrow morning. The most skeptical layman can see the probability of this drop when he is told that the temperature at Kansas City this morning at 7 o'clock was 26 deg., a fall of 28 deg. in twenty-four hours; at Wichita, Kan., was 24 deg., a fall of 32 deg.; at DesMoines, Io., was 26 deg., a fall of 26 deg. The storm central yesterday in Kansas has moved northeastward to Southern Minnesota. Light rains have occurred in the Upper Mississippi Valley, and heavy snows throughout the Dakotas and Nebraska. The temperature has fallen from 10 to 30 deg. in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Northern Texas and the western portions of Arkansas and Missouri. The temperatute is below freezing throughout this entire district and from 10 to 20 deg. below the freezing point in western Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

The river registered 11.4 feet at the foot of Market street this morning. Observer Hammon predicts that the river at St. Louis will be practically stationary between 11 and 12 feet for the next four days. At Hannibal to-day the stage was 6.8 feet. The forecast is that there will be a gradual rise to 7.1 feet by Sunday. At Grafton the stage to-day was 8.5 feet. The forecast is a stage of 8.7 feet for the next three days. At Boonville, the Missouri was 6.5 feet to-day. The forecast is a gradual fall to 6 feet by Saturday. At Hermann to-day the stage was 5 feet. The forecast is that there will be a fall to 4.8 feet by Sunday. At Memphis to-day the Mississippi registered 22.5 feet, a fall of one-half foot. At Cairo the stage was 26.6 feet, a rise of one-tenth of a foot.

A Fiend Fined.

William Clarke, 35 years of age, who says he has only been over from England four months, was fined $15 by Judge Paxson to-day for an indecent act. It was shown that he stood in an alley on Sullivan street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, yesterday afternoon and made indecent advances to a dozen little girls and boys. One girl in particular he accosted and gave a quarter. She took the quarter and fled to her home on the second floor at the corner of Thirteenth and Wright streets. He followed her and tried to get the quarter back, but just then Officer Dee appeared and arrested him.

SAFE-BLOWERS FOOLED.

They Lose Money on a Job at J. C. Fink's Office.

Burglars early this morning operated upon the safe of the J. C. Fink Mineral Milling Co. at 101 Barton street, and lost money by the transaction. They were in hard luck, for, besides wasting a large amount of gunpowder on a safe which was not locked, they failed to secure any cash and valuables and departed leaving some of their tools behind.

Two men are supposed to have been engaged in the attempt. They effected an entrance to the office of the company by forcing one of the windows facing on the Iron Mountain tracks where the latter cross Barton street. In the office was an iron safe of ancient pattern, some forty years old, which locks with a key. For fifteen years this lock has been out of order and has been fastened merely by turning the latch knob. Last night the intruders could have entered the safe by merely turning the knob, but instead of this they carefully bored a hole under the knob, filled the aperture with some explosive, presumably gunpowder, attached a fuse and blew the door off.

Some idea of the force of the explosion may be gained from the fact that the heavy iron door was blown from its hinges and parted in two pieces the front plate being divided from the portion containing the workings of the lock and the fire-proof lining. The contents of the safe consisting merely of books and papers of value only to the firm were scattered all over the office.

The "strong box" inside the safe was opened with a chisel, but contained no valuables. A few bills receivable insurance papers and a duplicate safe deposit key and list of deposits were taken. None of these can be used.

Yesterday the firm had $30,000 worth of securities in the office, and these are supposed to be what the robbers were after. They were, however, safely locked up in their safe deposit box before nightfall.

In leaving, the burglars left behind some of their tools. The night watchman, John Kercher, heard the explosion and started to investigate, but before he reached the office the marauders had gone.

AT THE THEATERS.

Current Bills at the Local Houses—Attractions for Next Week.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me," Belasco and Fyles' military play, presented by a Frohman company, is having a good week at the Olympic, and deserves its success. The new members of the cast are proving themselves fully as strong as were those who presented the drama here earlier in the season, and the play is delighting Olympic patrons. Next Sunday night Col. Robert G. Ingersoll lectures at the Olympic, his subject being: "What Must We Do to Be Saved," and on Monday night Charles Frohman's comedians begins a week's engagement in the sparkling comedy, "Wilkinson's Widows."

At the Grand, Nat Goodwin as Sheriff Jim Radburn of Pike County in Augustus Thomas' play "In Mizzoura," is drawing big houses for the second week of that production. Saturday night next will be Pike County night for "In Mizzoura," and a big attendance is expected. On Sunday night Primrose and West's Minstrels will appear for that night only, and on Monday evening Mr. Wilson Barrett and his London company will open a week's return engagement at the Grand. Mr. Barrett will then produce his dramatization of Hall Caine's peculiar story, "The Bondman," which is said to be as strong and picturesque as "The Deemster," known to the stage as "Ben My Chree," a favorite production with Mr. Barrett. He will also appear in his new play, "Nowadays," a racing drama, and on Thursday night next as Othello with Mr. John W. Norton as Iago. "The Stranger" and "The Silver King" will also be repeated during this engagement of Mr. Barrett's.

"Dr. Bill" at the Hagan is having a fairly good week, and is acceptably presented. "Edgewood Folks," with Alba Heywood as the star, comes to the Hagan next Sunday night for a week's engagement. It is a pleasant story of American life, and is said to be well presented by Mr. Heywood and the supporting company.

At Pope's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," with Peter Jackson as Uncle Tom, is drawing good houses. The colored pugilist takes the utmost pains to make an actor of himself, and between the first and second acts also appears in his real profession, giving a sparring exhibition with Joe Choynski of California. Next Sunday afternoon and evening, Charles A. (Karl) Gardner, in his new success, "The Prize Winner," opens a week's engagement at this house.

"The Police Patrol" is pleasing the patrons of Havlin's this week with its melodramatic story of a great crime, introducing a study of Chicago police methods. Next week, beginning Sunday afternoon and evening, will be presented W. H. Powers' Irish play, "The Ivy Leaf," with Smith O'Brien as the star.

The Rose Hill Folly company is giving a variety and burlesque entertainment at the Standard this week to fair houses. Fields & Hanson's Drawing Cards will be the attraction at this place next week, opening Sunday matinee and evening. The company is said to be one of merit and originality.

FATE GOODBAR'S BENEFIT.

Friday night next Treasurer Goodbar of Pope's takes his annual benefit. Mr. Goodbar, to use a popular term, is "all right," and the attraction he has secured for the occasion can be classed in the same category. Comedian Gardner and his "Prize Winners," in conjunction with the little St. Louis child, Florence Webb, the wonderful serpentine dancer, will keep the large audience in a state of good humor throughout the evening.

Another Explosion at Santander.

SANTANDER, March 22.—Several lives were lost by another dynamite explosion, which occurred yesterday while divers and other workmen were removing the fatal chemical from the hull of the Spanish steamer Cabo Machichaco, which blew up and sank here some months ago. The unexploded dynamite was considered a menace to navigation and ordered removed with the result noted.

Probable Fate of the Apollo.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Capt. O'Hagan of the steamer British King, which arrived this morning from Marseilles, says that he took an extreme southerly route, passing close to the Azores. Nothing was seen of the overdue Wilson Line steamer Apollo, which sailed from this port Feb. 11 for Antwerp.

Capt. O'Hagan says the probabilities are that the Apollo has been in collision with an iceberg and sunk.

DR. ENNO SANDER'S Garrod Spa is highly prized by physicians as the most rational remedy for gout, rheumatism and gravel.

ALLEGE FRAUD WAS COMMITTED.—John Nitzen and Josephine Nitzen, his wife, brought suit yesterday against Fidelo C. Sharp, J. H. Terry and others, to set aside a conveyance to some property on Cabanne street, near McRea avenue. They allege that Sharp secured the property from them by fraud, and they were granted leave to sue as poor persons.

This will positively be your last opportunity to get one of these ELEGANT SOUVENIR SPOONS. It is a well-known fact that we sell Fine Shoes lower than any other house in St. Louis, and while it incurs a temporary loss to us to give away so expensive a souvenir, we feel that you will have this spoon for years, and it will be the means of reminding you of the best Shoe House in St. Louis every time you see it.

She May Appear Throughout This Country Wearing a Crown.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 22.—Dr. J. A. Houser of this city announces that he is about closing negotiations with ex-Queen Liliuokalani for a lecture tour of the United States. Mr. Houser wrote to the ex-Queen six weeks ago offering to manage a tour for her, and he says the reply indicates that she will accept the proposition.

"We shall begin the tour in San Francisco," said he, "as soon as the Queen desires to come over. I will be there to meet her, and from that city we will make a prolonged tour of the whole country, visiting all cities of considerable size.

"I have arranged for the Queen to wear a crown on the stage, and she will present precisely the same appearance that she does at Honolulu."

SAYS IT'S A LIE.

Senator Morrissey Denounces a Report That He Has Turned Republican.

The remarkable rumor was circulated among the politicians at the Laclede Hotel last night, that State Senator Peter R. Morrisey had left the Democratic party and had decided to affiliate hereafter with the Republicans. To say that the report astounded everyone is putting it mildly. The connection of Morissey and Col. Edward Butler and the lesser lights of the First Ward Democracy had been such that such a move on his part was deemed next to impossible.

According to the story, Morrissey was going to make the change in order to take away the control of the Republicans in the ward from Christ Schawacker and come into the fal convention with a solid delegation for Coroner Frank for renomination. The motive was the close alliance between the Coroner's office and the Senator's saloon, which, no doubt, nets the legislator a goodly profit.

When Morrissey was seen this morning he was in a very wrathy frame of mind.

"It's a blankety blank lie!" he exclaimed. "I never heard anything about it until this morning. When I get ready to leave the Democratic party I'm ready to quit living. Fred Rohlfing is responsible for this. I don't know what he means by it. He's been shooting off his mouth too much. He thinks I'm a friend of his, because when they were trying to decide about running a candidate for the School Board in the First and Third Wards against John Collins he came to me and I told him it would only be a waste of money. He agreed with me and said he thought the Democrats wouldn't come out to vote on the members at large if there was no district opposition. I let him think so, and then we proceeded to roll up majorities in the thousands for the Democrats, with the Republicans asleep. That's the way I befriended him."

In the Coroner's office it was said that Rohlfing had been spreading the report, but he could not be found. The last seen of Morrissey he was wandering around the Four Courts with blood in his eye looking for Filley's aide-de-camp.

WORK OF LIGHTNING.

The Missouri Railroad Car Sheds Destroyed by Fire.

During the storm last night the Missouri Railroad Co.'s car sheds, at Laclede and Compton avenues, were struck by lightning, caught fire, and together with their contents were totally destroyed. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

The bolt of lightning struck about 11:20 o'clock and in a short time the building was a mass of ruins. In the shed were eleven motor cars and fifteen trailers, valued at $35,000, and two sweepers, worth $8,000. Both Chief Lindsay and President Maffitt agree that lightning was the cause. The loss is covered by insurance, placed with H. M. Blossom, Wall & Whittemore, Collins & Sons and the Citizens' Agency.

POST-DISPATCH BOOK DEP'T,

142 Worth Street, New York City.

513—DAPHNE HOUSE-JACKET.

Sizes, 34, 36, 38 and 40 Inches Bust Measure.

A comfortable and becoming house-jacket is one of the indispensables in every lady's wardrobe. This model possesses both of the necessary qualifications, and is adapted to all the materials usually employed for such garments—silk, woolen, linen or cotton—and can be simply or elaborately trimmed according to the material selected and the purpose for which the garment is to be used. The illustration represents light-tinted cashmere, trimmed with black lace and black velvet ribbon, the lace arranged in a cascade on each side of the front, which makes a very full trimming down the middle. The pattern is not quite tight-fitting, but the jacket can be held in closely to the waist by the belt.

Half of the pattern is given in six pieces: Front, side gore, back, collar and two pieces of the sleeve. The extension at the back seam is to be laid in two side-plaits turned toward the front on the inside. The sleeve is to be gathered top and bottom between the holes.

Cut the fronts with their front edges placed lengthwise on the goods, and the side gores and back pieces lengthwise, and with the holes which designate the waist-line placed exactly crosswise on the goods. Cut the sleeves lengthwise. Before cutting the goods be careful to read "Directions for Cutting," printed on the envelope.

34 and 36 bust measure will require three yards and three-quarters of goods twenty-four inches wide, and five yards of lace to trim as illustrated.

38 and 40 bust measure will require four yards and a quarter of goods twenty-four inches wide, and five yards and a half of lace to trim as illustrated.

530—KOMINSKY BLOUSE.

Sizes, 34, 36, 38 and 40 Inches, Bust Measure.

For slender figures this is an especially becoming design. The outer part of the waist is slightly full at the bottom, over a fitted lining having all the usual seams, and the upper part, back and front, is faced to simulate a yoke. The skirt is in circle shape, and should be made separate from the waist, so that it can be omitted when a tight-fitting outer garment is worn. The outer front of the waist should be fastened on the left shoulder and under the arm. The model is particularly desirable for medium-weight spring and summer goods, and offers opportunity for handsome combinations. With cottons and light-weight silks, embroidery or lace, could be very effectively used for the yoke and one or two caps over the sleeves. The patterns for the waist lining and the plain sleeves could be used for the cheapest materials. The "Kominsky" is shown in combination with the "Yorke" shirt, described below, but can be worn with any other style.

Half of the pattern is given in thirteen pieces: Front, side, gore, side form and back of lining; outer front and back pieces, collar, skirt, three caps and two pieces of the sleeve. The outer front and back pieces are to be gathered at the bottom, forward and back of the hole near the bottom of each respectively. The shirt piece is to have a box-plait in front, and two plaits in the back turned toward the front on the outside, all laid according to the holes. The caps are to be gathered at the top, between the holes.

Cut the fronts, side gores, side forms and back pieces lengthwise, with the lower edges placed exactly crosswise on the goods; place the front edge of the pattern for the outer front, and the back edge of the pattern for the outer back, to a lengthwise fold of the goods. Cut the shirt-piece with the front edge of the pattern placed lengthwise on the goods; the caps, either bias or straight, on their lower edges, and the sleeves bias below the elbows. Before cutting the goods be careful to read "Directions for Cutting," printed on the envelope.

34 and 36 inches bust measure will require four and a half yards of goods twenty-four inches wide.

38 and 40 inches bust measure will require four and three-quarter yards of goods twenty-four inches wide.

531—YORKE SKIRT.

Sizes, Medium and Large.

This is a very popular style of skirt, cut with an apron front, a gore on each side, and a full, straight breadth at the back. It is appropriate for all classes of goods and may be left plain or trimmed in any desired style. Skirts of silk and woolen materials are usually lined; the use of a stiff facing is a matter of individual fancy. To give the latest touch, two elastic bands should be placed across the inside of the back breadth, one about six inches below the belt and the other ten inches, to which the fullness can be tacked to make it fall in regular flutes. These bands are not to draw the skirt back, and their length must be regulated by the size of the figure.

Half of the pattern is given in three pieces: Front, side gore and half of the back. Fit the gores carefully at the top before cutting them off. Gather the back breadth. Mount to a band or a narrow binding.

In cutting, place the front edge of the pattern for the front and the back edge of the pattern for the back, to a lengthwise fold; cut the front edges of the side gores lengthwise. Before cutting the goods be careful to read "Directions for Cutting," printed on the envelope.

The medium size will require seven yards of goods, twenty-four inches wide.

The large size will require seven yards and a half of goods, twenty-four inches wide.

A RAY OF HOPE.

A New Loophole Discovered by Prendergast's Attorneys.

They Utilize It as a Last Resort to Save Their Client.

THE CONDEMNED MAN TO BE TRIED AS TO HIS SANITY.

The Hearing to Begin This Afternoon—This Means a Suspension of the Execution Pending a Verdict—Should Prendergast Be Proven Insane He Will Not Be Executed—Efforts of His Attorneys Before Acting Governor Gill.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Assassin Eugene Patrick Prendergast, the murderer of Mayor Harrison on Oct. 28, last, may never be executed for his wanton crime. At any rate, his hanging, set for to-morrow, will doubtless be postponed. On motion of his attorneys, as a last resort, he will be allowed a hearing as to his sanity. If proven insane, the execution will be postponed indefinitely.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 22.—The Federal judges to-day denied their aid to Prendergast, the assassin of Mayor Harrison, sentenced to be hanged to-morrow, leaving the only chance of escape for the condemned man in the hands of Acting-Gov. Gill.

When the United States Court of Appeals opened Judges Jenkins, Woods and Baker were on the bench. They announced that the petition of Prendergast's attorneys for a writ of habeas corpus was refused. The reason given was that the application disclosed only the same grounds for relief that had been presented to the Illinois Supreme Court.

Prendergast's attorneys late last night saw the United States Judges and laid the matter before them. Their principal point was that the State Court refused Prendergast permission to appear as his own attorney.

An exception to the decision of the Federal Court was taken by the defendant's attorneys, whereby they reserve the right to take an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, but unless a reprieve is received from the Executive of the State this will be unavailing.

The decision of the United States Circuit Court was read by Judge Jenkins. It represented, however, the opinions of Judges Woods, Seaman and Bunn as well. Judge Baker did not participate in the decision, as he was not present when the argument was made by Attorney Gregory last night. Judge Jenkins spoke quietly and deliberately, saying:

"The defendant alleges that in his conviction of murder by the State court there were certain errors. First, that the right to appear and testify in his own behalf was denied; second, that a Judge of the Criminal Court was allowed to testify to the appearance and bearing of this defendant before him, touching his mental condition at that time; third, that the jurors trying his case were separated contrary to the order of the Court; fourth, that the Court in his charge to the jury withdrew from their consideration the question as to whether the petitioner had killed the person as alleged in the indictment, stating that it was conceded by the defense and charging them only to consider the question of his sanity.

"We are of the opinion," continued Judge Jenkins, glancing at the paper containing the argument of Attorney Gregory, to which he had been referring, "that the petition for the writ of habeas corpus must show that the court was without jurisdiction of the person and the subject-matter in the case or that the court being competent to render a decision, was in excess of his jurisdiction. This cannot be a writ of error. The objections, however, availing they might be in a writ of error, do not concern the question of such jurisdiction, and are not availing here upon application for a writ of error. The application for a writ of habeas corpus is therefore overruled."

To the surprise of the community at large a new loop-hole was discovered by Prendergast's attorneys and an attempt to utilize it was made immediately after the decision of the Federal courts was announced. The attorneys decided to raise the question of Prendergast's sanity under a special statute of the State. Attorney S. S. Gregory proceeded immediately to make a last effort to at least postpone the execution until the mental condition of the condemned man could be passed upon by a jury of his peers.

Judge Baker of the State Circuit Court, to whom application was made, consented to hear a trial of Prendergast for insanity, to begin this afternoon.

Judge Baker's action, it was said, means a suspension of the execution pending a verdict, and if the verdict is that the prisoner is insane, the result is to postpone the execution indefinitely.

Prendergast was exercising in the jail when news of the latest move in his behalf was sent to him.

"Another surprise," was his only comment.

During his former trial he objected frequently and strongly to the insanity defense, and declared that it was unwarranted and adopted over his protest. He did not renew these statements to-day.

Prendergast's attorneys, it is said, will try to show that the assassin is now insane. This proceeding was tried in the case of Lingg, the Anarchist, but failed.

All arrangements were completed this afternoon for a double execution tomorrow, Prendergast and Buff Higgins to be the victims. A party from Joliet, including E. M. Allen, son of Robert L. Allen, Warden of the penitentiary, and W. H. Clare, visited the jail to-day. They were admitted to Prendergast's cell.

"When you get to Joliet we will give you a better place to stay than this," Mr. Allen said to Prendergast in a cheerful tone.

The remark pleased the murderer. The possibility of escaping from the scaffold to a term in prison had a most cheering effect on him.

"I still have hope," said he, "and I am going to keep on hoping."

Prendergast's looks indicate that he is very hopeful. He sat in a chair in the rear of his cell where visitors in the cage below could not see him, and spent hours looking straight ahead.

BEFORE THE GOVERNOR.

Assassin Prendergast's Attorneys Asking for a Reprieve.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 22.—When Acting Governor Gill arrived here at noon he found C. S. Darrow waiting for him with a petition for a reprieve for murderer Prendergast. The Acting Governor said he would hear Mr. Darrow's argument this afternoon.

"The object we have in asking for a reprieve," said Mr. Darrow to a POST-DISPATCH correspondent, "is to secure time to convince the Governor that Prendergast is insane. We do not want him pardoned, but will endeavor, in case a reprieve is granted, to obtain a commutation of sentence. Possibly we may get the Supreme Court to look into the case further. As to Prendergast's sanity, we are willing to abide by the decision of the superintendents of the insane hospitals of the State."

Epworth League Mass Meeting.

POOR INDIANS.

Missouri Tribes Threatened With a Suit for Badges.

The various tribes of Missouri Indians who organized themselves just prior to the last campaign and threatened under the leadership of White Chief Marshall to revolutionize politics in Missouri, appear to have shared the fate of withered leaves of the forest before the sweep of the late Republican hurricane. To be a friendly Indian in those days it was necessary not only to be a true and tried Democrat, but none were recognized who did not wear one of the royal badges of the tribe, which were especially designed by the Great White Chief, and to obtain these was by no means an easy task.

Scores of wild men were initiated, however, and each decorated with the badge of honor which became the pride of the wearer and the envy of all humbler Democrats who were excluded from the secret pow-wows of the White Chief and his council.

After the spring cyclone these royal insignia disappeared and the disgusted Indians retired again to the seclusion of their wigwams and were forgotten. Their memory is now revived by the following correspondence, which has been pretty generally circulated around and which needs no explanation:

DEMAND TO PAY UP.

ST. LOUIS, March 19, 1894.

T. R. Fitzgibbone, Esq.:

DEAR SIR—Mr. W. H. Haskell has placed in my hands for collection a claim of $73 against the Missouri Democratic Association, of which you were Secretary and W. C. Marshall President. The account has been running almost a year, and as a good Democrat we shall expect you to see that it is liquidated promptly. Please let me know when I shall call for a check. Respectfully,

FRANK H. HASKINS.

After putting this in his pipe and smoking it for two days Mr. Paddy Fitzgibbone sent the following reply:

FITZGIBBONE'S POINTED REJOINDER.

ST. LOUIS, March 21, 1894.

Frank H. Haskins, Esq.:

DEAR SIR—Yours of the 19th inst. to hand. I was surprised to learn that Mr. Haskell's account against the Missouri Democratic Association is still due. W. C. Marshall, City Counselor, is the proper party to collect from, as it was through his instructions that the emblem button, badges, etc., were ordered. He designed the emblem button and wore one in the button-hole of his coat whilst he remained a Democrat. He has no excuse for not paying what he indirectly ordered, as he is still enjoying the emoluments of office, with expectations of a reappointment from Mr. Walbridge, who has found him a ready and useful tool in his crusade against Democratic officials appointed under the City Charter, and having the same right to serve their full term in office as he (Walbridge) has to serve his term as Mayor. Mr. Walbridge and his agent (Marshall) have persecuted Democrats; trampled and ignored the charter. Mr. Marshall has also abused the courtesy extended to him by the Democratic party. * * * Pardon me for getting away from the question at issue, that is the account due Mr. Haskell from the Missouri Democratic Association. However, the Executive Committee will order a meeting of the association in the near future for reorganization, the election of a good Democratic President, and the expulsion of traitors, I will bring Mr. Haskell's case before the association and try and do something with his bill, which should have been liquidated long ago. In the mean time I would advise you to see or write to Mr. Marshall and find out what he is going to do about that bill, which he authorized to be ordered and let me know the result. Respectfully,

P. R. FITZGIBBON,
2354 Mullanphy street, city.

WHAT MARSHALL SAYS.

When City Counselor Marshall was seen to-day and asked if he knew anything about a bill for badges he said:

"Nothing more than that such a bill was sent to me for payment."

"What will you do about it?"

"I suppose there is nothing to do except for us to get together again and raise the money to pay it. As good Democrats we must pay our bills, you know," and a broad smile spread over the features of the erstwhile Indian chief.

From the tone of Mr. Fitzgibbon's letter and the talk that is current among the Democrats of the City Hall, it would appear that Mr. Marshall will not be invited to take part in the next grand pow-wow of the depleted Missouri Indians.

BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Thomas McTigue, a Coal Dealer, Found Unconscious.

Thomas McTigue, a coal dealer, who has an office at 704 Pine street, was found lying on the sidewalk on Eighth, between Locust and Olive streets, by Officer Steele of the Central District. He was aroused by the officer, but he could give no very good account of himself. All he remembered was that he had been robbed of a gold watch and chain, valued at $250. McTigue is said to have been slightly under the influence of liquor, but when he was picked up by Officer Steele he was almost stupefied. It is thought a crowd of negroes, who were seen in the locality where McTigue was found, attacked him and stole his watch.

DILLY IS JEALOUS.

Objects to a Newsboy's Attentions to His Wife.

Lawrence Dilly, a laborer living at 504 South Second street, called on Pierce Keating, Clerk of the First District Police Court, to-day and had a summons issued against William Schlake, who sells papers in the vicinity of Sixth and Pine streets. Dilly's wife also sells papers at Sixth and Pine streets, and Dilly alleges that there has sprung up between his wife and Schlake, who is a grown young man, an acquaintance which has become warmer than Dilly appreciates, though he does not accuse his wife of any wrong. Last evening Dilly called around at the corner and not liking the way things were going, he took his wife home and gave her some wholesome advice on the way. After they got home he continued the lecture and alleges that Schlake, who had followed, threw a rock through the window and nearly struck him.

A LIVELY CHASE.

Two Boys Try to Make Away With a Rig.

There was an exciting chase on Olive street, between Twelfth and Eleventh streets, about noon to-day. P. N. Eckele, a drummer for the Home Provision Co. of No. 6 North Commercial street, left his buggy on Olive street, just west of Twelfth, where he entered a store to transact some business. He had no sooner entered the store when two small boys sprang into it and started to drive rapidly east on Olive street. Mr. Eckele and Officer Flanagan, Herman Frank, a drummer and one or two other citizens who witnessed the two boys driving the vehicle off gave chase. When between Eleventh and Twelfth streets one of the occupants of the buggy sprang over the dash-board while the horse was going full tilt and landed in the hands of his pursuers. The other continued riding until the horse was stopped by Mr. Frank and the occupant was taken into custody. Officer Flanagan brought the lads to the Four Courts, where they gave the names of Albert Coppack and Matt Sullivan, aged 16 and 17 years respectively. They denied stealing the rig, but declared they had been hired to take it to Ninth and Olive by a mulatto unknown to them. The boys were locked up and will go to police court for driving off the rig.

Pinkston Is Solvent.

Mr. W. P. Pinckston, who was associated with Christ Von der Ahe in several panoramas and pyrotechnical displays at the New Sportsman's Park, is desirous to correct a statement made yesterday that because he was insolvent Mr. Von der Ahe would have to pay the amount of the judgment rendered against both of them yesterday. Mr. Pinkston denies that he is insolvent, and also denies the statement credited to Mr. Von der Ahe, that he, Pinkston, exceeded his authority in the purchase of materials. Mr. Pinkston declares that Mr. Von der Ahe consented to the entry of judgement against him in five suits yesterday, but that he, Pinkston did not consent because by the terms of the contract between Von der Ahe and Pinkston, the former was to pay all bills and salaries during the preparation for and presentation of the show.

ON CHANGE.

Grain.

Wheat—The stagnation in speculation was very much, in fact too much, in evidence this morning. With weather conditions that in previous years and with only ordinary speculation would have opened the market at least 1c higher, wheat this morning sold ⅛c higher and then immediately dropped back overwhelmed by selling offers and with no support from the buying side. The outside appeared content to remain disinterested lookers on, hardly any orders being in the market, and professional interest continued slack, the unresponsiveness of the market to the weather conditions disgusting the bulls and the bears, satisfied that prices had not advanced, standing off and letting the market take care of itself.

FUTURES—May opened at 54⅞@55c, sold to 54⅝@¾c, to 54¾c, to 54⅝c, to 54¾c, on call 54¾c asked and 54⅝@¾c bid, then sold at 54⅝c, off to 54½c, to 54⅜c, to 54⅜@½c, to 54½c, closing at 54⅜@½c sellers. July opened at 56½c, sold down to 56¼c, to 56⅜c, to 56¼c, closing with sellers at latter price.

SPOT GRADES—Lower. Some outside milling orders were filled, but the local milling demand was only notable for its insignificance. No 2 red sold on Call in United at 53¼c and for regular 52¾c bid. No 3 red this side at 51⅛c; for regular 51c bid. No 4 winter offered regular at 50c; no bid.

Sales: No 2 red—6,870 bu and 3 cars in United at 53¼c, 5,000 bu in United, 1,500 bu East side and 10,000 bu this side p t. No 3 red—1 car in St L at 51⅛c.

SAMPLES—Received, 1,433 sks and 8 cars local, 2 cars through. Lower and slow. Sales: Red winter—191 sks weevily at 44c, 140 sks choice at 53c, 1,169 fancy at 53½c. In special bin—1 car No 4 at 51c.

Corn—If speculation was stagnant in wheat, it was dead in corn, as up to 12 o'clock not a trade was made in futures. There was a firm tone to the market, as the blizzard in the North and West was expected to curtail farmers' deliveries and consequently the movement to market. Arrivals at Western market were good, but at this point only 39 cars were local, out of 135 cars received, and the last market was easier. Foreign markets showed steadiness, but the day's clearances from four ports were only 45,000 bu. After 12 o'clock the market weakened, chiefly through sympathy with wheat, but the lower rates asked did not bring in buyers and not a trade was made. Thus, something that has not occurred in this market since it became a speculative center of any prominence was seen to-day, not a future trade being made.

Futures—On call March was offered at 34¼c, no bid; May at 34⅜@⅝c, bid 34½c; July at 36⅛c, bid 35⅝c. At close May was offered at 34⅜@½c and July at 35¼c.

SPOT GRADES—Easier and a dull market. A few cars supplied all requirements, as the local and order demand was of the lightest and there was no inquiry from any other source, while there was some pressure to sell. No 2 sold on call at 34½c in M and 34⅜c in C and F, but latter offered freely at that and 34¼c bid regular; later East Side sold at 34⅛c. No 3 offered in M and St. L at 33½c. No 2 white offered regular at 35⅝c, bid 35⅛c for this and East Side, 35½c for C. No 3 regular at 35c, no bid.

Sales: No 2—3 cars in F at 34¼c, 2 in do and 1 in C at 34⅜c, 1 in F and 5 East side at 34⅛c. No 2 white—2 cars East Side at 35¼c. No 3—1 car in M at 33½c.

SAMPLES—Steady and in milling demand. Sales: 187 sks St. Charles at 36c, 300 do at 36½c. Skd lots on orders 41@42c.

Oats—While there were sellers, who seemed to be anxious to put out a line of July at above 26c, not a buyer could be found. At close that option was offered at 26⅛@¼c. May was offered on call at 31⅛c, bid 31c.

SPOT GRADES—No 2 offered at 32c, bid 31½c for East side, and for No 3 in M and St. L 30c bid.

SAMPLES—Received, 25 cars. The local demand was good and the small offerings found buyers readily at steady prices. No 3 white sold at 33@33½c in elevator, and 33½@35c on track, the latter for fancy. There were buyers for No 2 white but none to be had. Choice black and light-colored No 2 brought 33@33½c, but the average grade did not sell. No 3 in good request at 31c in elevator and 31½c track. Sales were as follows:

By sample in special bin—3 cars No 3 white at 33⅛c, 1 light colored No 2 at 32½c, 3 No 3 white at 33c, 2 No 3 at 31c.

By sample on track—1 car fancy No 3 white at 35c, 1 ungraded white at 34c, 3 No 3 white at 33½c, 1 light weight do at 33½c, 2 No 3 at 31½c. Sacked lots on orders, 35@36c.

Rye—The only cars here sold yesterday and to-day a local distiller paying 50c for a car No 2 in St L and a car No 2 this side and selling at 50c to-day.

Hay.

Received, 440 tons; shipped, 96 tons. Good hay in fair request, and as the supply was light and offerings small, prices were held steady. The extreme top grades could be called firm, but they were no higher in price. Medium grades were unchanged and quiet. For the low grades over-ripe and damaged, there was hardly any demand, and the little selling did so at low-down prices.

Sales this side—½ car Hungarian at $5, 1 car grass mixed at $7, 1 do at $8, ½ car clover mixed at $9, 1 light do at $9.75, 1 do at $10. Timothy—1 car prime at $8.50, 1 strictly do at $9, 1 about choice at $9.50, 2 do at $9.75, 4 choice at $10, 2 strictly do at $10.50, 10 strictly do, storage paid, $11, 1 fancy storage paid at $11.50. Prairie Western—1 car off color at $6.50, 1 at $7.50, 1½ at $9, 1 p t. East Side—2 cars mixed at $8.50. Timothy—1 car at $8.50, 1 at $11, 1 at $11.50.

Flour and Feed.

Flour—It was a very slow market, the action of wheat rather working against the sale of flour. Holders slow to come down in the price, and buyers holding off for lower prices.

Cornmeal—On orders, $1.95@2 per bbl. Pearl meal, grits and hominy $2.45@2.50.

Commercial Notes.

The weather is growing warmer in the Northwest.

"Effect of the cold wave," remarked a commission man, showing a telegram from Southern Kansas containing an order to buy wheat.

All domestic and foreign markets will be closed to-morrow in observance of Good Friday, and most of the foreign markets will remain so until next Tuesday.

The cold wave has entered and is steadily working through the section where the wheat is said to be jointed. In Oklahoma the temperature was down to 30 this morning.

LIVE STOCK.

Cattle—Receipts, 1,982 head. The market was slow in both the native and Texas departments, and it was some time before buyers and sellers could get together in their views. Natives sold about 10c lower, Texas 15c lower than Wednesday and even at the decline the trade was dragging and lifeless. Calves sold steady as the supply was too light to admit of any change in prices.

Considerable strength was developed soon after the opening, yesterday's late decline of 5c being fully recovered. The top, $4.70, was paid for good light-weights and the bulk of the good hogs sold at $4.55 to $4.65. The close was strong, with considerable more hogs wanted.

The market started where it left off last night, and although the Southwest is cold enough to freeze hard—24 deg. at Wichita and 30 in Texas—the crowd here ignored that factor. May opened at 58⅛c and declined to 58c. The weather predictions from Washington were not of a sort to alarm the crowd. Mitchell was a seller in a moderate way. Kennett-Hopkins bought about 200,000. The talk centered about a trade in March wheat at 56⅞c, ⅛c over the market. De Coliccer made the bid and Tom Barrett sold it. The former claims he bid for No 2 spring wheat. Corn and oats were dull, but steady, at last night's figures. Provisions were firm. Baldwin sold out the 1,000,000 of ribs he bought yesterday. May pork, $11; May lard, 6.60c. New York—Traders thought the market had a reactionary look yesterday evening. It was strong on the surface, but it was noticed that quotations fell away rapidly and every rally seemed to bring increased offerings of stocks. Commission houses noticed the same thing in letters last night and were more disposed to advise caution, particularly in regard to the stocks which had the largest advances. Selling orders preponderated on the books of some of the specialists, and there was believed to have been good selling by one or two large interests which bought stocks a month ago. The bull idea of the market was that stocks were scarce. There was no pressure to sell, and the natural demand kept the market going. Stocks were plentiful in the loan crowd, but C., B. & Q., L. & N., New York Central, Northwestern, New England and Northern Pacific preferred commanded slight premiums.

St Paul common stock sells ex-dividend to-day. The earnings of the Northwestern for February decreased net $12,806. The stock market keeps pretty firm. London does little this morning. They bought some Atchison. A German firm bought General Electric. Jim Keene bought C. B & Q.

PARIS, March 22.—The weekly statement of the Bank of France, issued to-day, shows the following changes as compared with the previous account: Notes in circulation decreased, 45,850,000 francs; treasury account current increased, 19,650,000 francs; gold in hand increased, 5,100,000 francs; bills discounted decreased, 48,275,000 francs; silver in hand increased, 3,300,000 francs.

LONDON, March 22.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England, issued to-day, shows the following changes as compared with the previous account: Total reserve, decreased, £620,000; circulation, increase, £500,000; bullion, decreased, £119,829; other securities increased £2,723,000; other deposits increased £412,000; public deposits increased £1,636,000; notes reserve decreased £558,000; government securities, unchanged. The proportion of the Bank of England's reserve to liability is 56.17 per cent. The Bank of England's rate of discount remains unchanged at 2 per cent.

Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The stock market opened firm, with the first transactions generally above the closing figures of yesterday. Sugar opened ⅜ higher, but quickly receded ½. St. Paul moved up ⅛, Northwest Cordage ½ and Burlington and Rock Island each ⅛ per cent.

Under the influence of good buying prices soon recorded a general advance, ranging from ⅛ to 1 per cent, the latter American Tobacco, General Electric and New York Central ¾ each and Louisville & Nashville, Canada Southern and Illinois Central ½. Sugar rallied ⅜, receded ⅛, recovered ⅛, and reacted ⅛ to 88⅞. The trading in the stock was quite active.

Speculation in this stock is affected by the reports that the sugar schedule will experience considerable change before the passage of the tariff bill. Distilling is weak on the failure of yesterday's conference between the Distilling and Distributing company's representatives. The stock has sold down ¾ per cent. The conference is in session again to-day. Heaviness characterized the market after the first hour, Cordage selling off ½, New York, Chicago & St. Louis ⅞, General Electric ⅜, Chicago Gas and Susquehanna and Western preferred ¼, and the rest of the list of smaller fraction. Subsequently there was a rally in prices; Consolidated Gas, which had declined ⅜, recovered ¼; Pittsburg, C. C. & St. Louis preferred rose 1¼, and the other shares traded in ⅛@¼ per cent. Sugar and Rock Island each sold up ⅛. The Texas Pacific stocks and bonds were active and strong on the favorable annual report, the stock advancing ⅛, the first mortgage bonds 1⅛ and the seconds 1¼. The St. Louis Southwestern firsts rose 1¼ and the seconds 1⅛. Reading third preferred declined 1 per cent. The Northwestern Railroad Co. is paying to-day the dividend on the preferred stock due Saturday.

At Death's Door

Blood Poisoned After Typhoid Fever

A Marvelous Cure by Hood's After All Else Failed.

Mrs. Phebe L. Hall.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Dear Sirs: Twenty-five years ago I had a bilious fever, and later it turned into typhoid fever, and for five weeks I lay like one dead, but at last I pulled through and got up around. I soon discovered on my left leg just above the knee a small brown spot about as big as a three-cent piece, which puffed up but did not hurt me or feel sore. I did not pay any attention to it until two years after, when it commenced to spread and have the appearance of a ring worm. It itched and burned and I commenced doctoring, but to no avail. I

Got Only Momentary Relief,

And sometimes not even that. I could not sleep nights, and on account of the itching I scratched the spot until the blood would run. In hot weather my elbows and all my joints were just the same, and what I have suffered I cannot describe with a pen. Last February I tried an herb for the blood and it broke out in the worst form of a rash all over my body. I began my scratching and scales would fall off. The sores continued to discharge and I longed to die. Finally my husband bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I had not taken more than half of it before I began to change for the better. I have had four bottles.

Now I Am All Well

but two little spots on my leg. I can now sleep and eat well and work all the time. I am 58 years old, and the mother of eleven children, and I think I can do as much as anyone my age. My son has taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, and has been greatly benefited by it. I feel very grateful for the benefit I received from Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE L. HALL, Galva, Kansas.

PAID $215 ON A $15 LOAN.

Mrs. Rudolph Foell's Story of Her Experience With Money Lender Peters.

Mrs. Rudolph Foell of 1707 South Eleventh street called at the Prosecuting Attorney's office to-day and stated that seven years ago she and her husband had borrowed $15 from F. W. Peters, who conducts the Germania Loan Co. at 515 Pine street, giving him a mortgage on their furniture. Since then they have paid $215 on account of the loan, she stated, and are still in Peter's debt and he threatens to sell them out. She claimed they paid $2.50 a month at first, and that last September Peters raised the payment to $3.50 a month. They have not been able to pay anything since last month, Mr. Foell being out of work. She said that two or three days ago they received notice that if they did not pay up by noon to-morrow their furniture would be sold out. Mrs. Foell was told that nothing could be done at the Prosecuting Attorney's office, but she was referred to Attorney S. A. McGinnis at 506 Olive street, who defends all such cases gratis.

BROCKWAY GUILTY OF GREAT CRUELTY

Report of the Committee Investigating the Elmira Reformatory.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 22.—Z. R. Brockway, General Superintendent of the Elmira Reformatory, stands convicted by the report of the State Board of Charities of cruel, brutal, excessive, degrading and unusual punishment of inmates. The investigation has been long and tedious, and the political influence of Brockway, which is very potent, has been exerted to effect his exoneration of the charges brought against him. The report of the board is now in possession of the State Legislature. Nearly every charge, with the exception of the one alleging that permanent injuries resulted to inmates from the punishments received in the institution, is sustained by the report. The immediate removal of the Board of Managers of the institution is strongly recommended. The board abstains from making any recommendation as regards the removal of Supt. Brockway, inasmuch as he is an appointee of the Board of Managers.

The report says that many convicts are punished by solitary confinement for long periods of time on short allowance, where they are frequently manacled by the hand to a sliding ring on a bar on the wall or to a ring in the floor both by day and night, so that they cannot stand upright, or manacled by the hands during the day for at least eleven hours at a time to the iron gate of such cell in a standing position, with his hands at the height of the head; that said cells are sometimes made totally dark; that such punishment is extremely severe to the health.

That the form of corporal punishment known as spanking or paddling adopted by the General Superintendent and tacitly recognized by the managers, is a very severe and cruel punishment, capable of doing serious injury, physically and morally, to the convict punished thereby, and which, if used at all, should never be applied except in extreme cases. The testimony shows that it is inflicted by such General Superintendent for the slightest cause.

That "spanking" or "paddling," as applied by the General Superintendent under the fanciful title of "physical treatment," is frequently inflicted by him in a very brutal and inhuman manner.

That during the spanking the patient is required to stand with his fingers on the sill of the window above him and keep his head turned to the right away from the paddler, and that if for asking mercy, or from the anguish of the spanking, or any other cause, he turns his head, he is immediately struck a blow over the head or directly on the face by the General Superintendent, who is invariably the paddler, with the heavy paddle, frequently causing what is called a black eye, or cutting the skin of the face or head so as to cause bruises, and at times causing the blood to flow from the convict's nose so as to daub the wall in front of him and the marble floor on which he stands.

That another method of discipline or corporal punishment consists in blows with the open hand or closed fist given with more or less severity by the General Superintendent upon the head or face or body of the convict brought before him in the bath-room for admonition or punishment. These blows are characterized by him "physical contact."

The committee then draws from these facts the following conclusions, among others:

That the charges and the allegations against the General Superintendent, Z. R. Brockway of "cruel, brutal, excessive, degrading and unusual punishment of the inmates" are proven and most amply sustained by the evidence, and that he is guilty of the same.

That the General Superintendent in punishing convicts by blows across the face by the paddle, not because of any offense committed by them, but because they happen to turn their heads, often for the purpose of pleading for mercy, is guilty of needless cruelty and gross inhumanity.

That the General Superintendent permitted and encouraged officers and keepers to strike, kick, beat and otherwise practice brutality upon the inmates when in his presence in the bathroom, and that therefore said officers and keepers were encouraged to exercise brutality upon the inmates elsewhere and when not in his presence.

PETROLEUM IN BULK.

A Tank Steamer Finally Allowed to Discharge Her Cargo at Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, March 22.—The customs authorities have finally granted a permit allowing the tank steamer, which arrived here several days ago loaded with petroleum, to discharge her cargo.

This was the first tank steamer to arrive here, and the customs authorities announced their intention of prohibiting the landing of petroleum in bulk, but the British, Russian and German Consuls protested and the authorities have finally given in.

NEW JERSEY SENATORIAL FIGHT.

The Deadlock Broken by the Supreme Court—Republican Victory.

TRENTON, N. J., March 22.—Chief Justice Beasley handed down a decision in the Senatorial deadlock case which breaks the deadlock and gives a decisive victory to the Republicans. The decision declares that the contention of the Republicans that the court has no jurisdiction in the case is not good, and then proceeds to uphold Senator Rogers, the Republican leader, in his claim that he is President, since he was elected by a majority of those legally entitled to take part in the organization.

As to the claim of the Democrats that the new Senators had no right to take part in the organization of the Senate, the opinion says:

"Organization involves the composition of the body organized, and consequently it involves the right of the counties to participate in the decision of the all-important question which of them, shall be represented in the body and which of them shall be unrepresented. It seems to me that the mandate of the Constitution that the Senate shall be composed of one Senator from each county cannot be reasonably enforced except by the adoption of the hypothesis that each Senator shall have a voice in all the proceedings that result in the composition of the body itself. When, therefore, on the occasion that gave rise to the present controversy it was asserted that one-third of all the counties of the State should be excluded from all participation in a transaction so vital to their rights, and affecting so intimately the interests of the entire Commonwealth, a doctrine was asserted that must be considered as devoid of all reasonable foundation."

The decision is accepted gracefully by the Democrats. Senator Adrian, the President of the Democratic Senate, will join with the Republicans. Gov. Werts has already issued commissions to Treasurer-elect George B. Swain and Comptroller-elect N. S. Hancock.

The race tracks are knocked clean out, the bills passed by the House and the Republican Senate repealing all laws licensing them becoming valid.

Brazilian Revolutionists Still Strong and Hopeful in the South.

ISLA FLORES, Montevideo, March 22.—In behalf of the Brazilian Revolutionary party, Capt. Manual Sue Zena, a revolutionary agent here, has made the following statement:

"The defeat of Saldanha da Gama by President Peixoto does not mean the end of the Federal revolution in the South. It only delays the victory. The resources of President Lorena in the naval and land forces and his financial aid insure the Federalists the possession of the States of Parana and Santa Catharina, and the continuance of effective operations in Rio Grande do Sul. Meantime Admiral Mello, with the Aquidaban, Republica, Iris, Meteor, Aranus, Esperanza, two ocean torpedo boats and six transports, can successfully combat any squadron which President Floriana Peixoto can send against them. The revolutionary army is now defending Ilame and Ignape. Gen. Saraiva has 3,000 men in his command and Gen. Salgada 1,500. They are equipped with excellent artillery and Krupp guns, which were taken from President Peixoto's forces at the battle of Parana. Abundant ammunition was brought down from Rio by the Aquidaban.

"The armies in Rio Grande do Sul are reunited, and now Gen. Zavores has 2,000 men under him and Gen. Caoada 1,800. It is believed that Gov. Castilos will soon surrender. The revolutionists control the States of Parana, Santa Catharina and Rio Grande do Sul. A large army will undoubtedly soon be in operation in the State of Sao Paulo. After the victory which we expect in Rio Grande do Sul, a more effective campaign will be started in Sao Paulo. It is true we are disappointed at the unconditional surrender of Saldanha in Rio, as it was hoped he would seize the Custom-house and take all of the receipts there, thus supplying money to carry on the war. But the revolutionary party never attached supreme importance to the defeat of Saldanha. The revolution will be continued, and the leaders who signed the constitution on Nov. 15 are determined to continue the contest and hope for a recognition of belligerent rights from neighboring republics. We believe President Peixoto induced Saldanha to withdraw the garrisons from Isla das Cobras and Fort Villegaignon. We hope to be able to reinforce the squadron. The crews will probably remain idle for a time to recuperate. I do not believe that they will surrender without further struggle, after the campaign of the last six months."

Arms and Ammunition Captured.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 22.—It is reported here that Admiral Mello has captured $300,000 worth of arms and ammunition off Paranagua. A vessel flying the flag of Argentina was overhauled and a cargo of artillery and Krupp guns, thirty tons of smokeless powder and 150,000 cartridges was captured. It was consigned to Peixoto.

Belle Was Jealous.

Belle Davis, when arraigned before Judge Paxson this morning, charged with disturbing the peace, secured a continuance until March 28. Belle lives in the rear of 715 Morgan street, in Essex alley. Tuesday afternoon she invited "Black-Top Mary" and Leonna Woods around to her house to play cards and drink beer with her and her man, Bill Davis, who had come in from the river on the steamer Hickman that morning. Bill had just been paid off, and as he spent his money freely the beer flowed generously and the trio had a jolly good time until Alice Sullivan, a pretty 20-year-old mulatto girl, put her head in the door. Belle told her to get out, as she did not want her to come around trying to steal her man. Bill, however, ordered her to stay. This angered Belle, and she hit Alice a furious blow over the head with a poker. Then Alice screamed for dear life. Officers Regan and Bollinger went to the rescue and arrested Belle. They took Alice to the Dispensary, whence she was removed to her home, No. 1009 Lucas avenue, after having her injuries attended to.

LORD ROSEBERY'S FIANCEE.

He Will Marry Princess Maud, Daughter of the Prince of Wales.

LONDON, March 22.—It is stated upon what claims to be good authority that the Queen and Prince of Wales have given their consent to the marriage of Lord Rosebery and the Princess Maud of Wales and that the official announcement may be expected any day.

This, it is said, was the business that caused Lord Rosebery's urgent summons to the Queen's presence on Saturday before Gladstone's retirement and the ministerial conference the next day.

How Labouchere will writhe under the leadership of Wales' son-in-law can be imagined. It remains to be seen how far this court connection will strengthen the Radical opposition to Lord Rosebery's leadership.

Princess Maud, known at home as "Harry," is a bright lively girl, 24 years old. She is the next to the youngest of the six children.

A CHILD'S BODY FOUND.—Effie Scott, living at 5107 McKissock avenue, found the body of a female white child last night in the sewer inlet at the northwest corner of De Soto and McKissock avenues. The corpse was removed to the Morgue.
